New Year's Greetings

REEVE TOM DELINE

We are happy to see the amount of building that has been taking place in the Village during the past year and pleased that interest in this area has been so good.

The Water and Sewer project is on stream and the proposed work in the West End of the Village should take place in the spring.

REEVE GLEN FRANKS.

Huntingdon Township enjoyed a busy year in 1986, with $1,129,875. building construction taking place.

1986 saw the completion of the addition to the Business and Recreation complex at Ivanhoe with its new office space, council chambers, washrooms and reception area.

Also through the efforts of lots of volunteers, new lighting was installed at the ball diamond.

I feel that with the continued road upgrading and maintenance by the Roads Dept., and the efforts of an excellent office staff in assisting prospective home builder, we have made Huntingdon Township a better place to live in for present and future citizens.

I also feel that our volunteer fire department is second to none and they have done a great deal to prevent a major disaster in our community.

As Reeve of Huntingdon Township, I congratulate all of the people who have made a contribution to the well being of our community.

To everyone, a Healthy and Happy New Year.

REEVE JOHN IRWIN

1986 has been a busy year and we have accomplished a great deal. We are happy to see that construction has begun on our new township facility and are looking forward to it's completion.

We are optimistic that 1987 will continue to see good things happen for the Township and look forward to meeting the needs of the community.

January

January of last year seemed to be the month for planning and promoting. The Madoc and District Golf Course Study Group held a "public input meeting". Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Centre Hastings were promoting their Bowl for Millions campaign. The International Plowing Match plans and publicity were getting into high gear, battle plans against the Gypsy Moth infestation were being formulated, and a Squash and fitness Club was announced for Madoc.

The local figure Skating Club was busy as many of their members practised for a competition to be held in February. The library reported a slight drop-off in the number of books borrowed. Volunteers from the Madoc Helping Hands Group were busy distributing food baskets to those families in need.

Cyril Shaw's rink of Barb Preston, lead, Bill Matthews, 2nd, Karen Shaw, vice won the Molson's Mixed Bonspiel in Marmora, beating out 23 other rinks.

The Block Parents program chalked up it's first birthday during this month and Constable Norm Papi was busy in the area classrooms conducting the V.I.P. program. There was the usual rash of break-ins and traffic offences, but in one incident a couple in their 80's were subjected to a frightening ordeal. Michael and Irene O'Connell were bound to their living room chairs by four youths who then robbed them of over $200. The four then stole the O'Connell's pick-up truck and fled the scene. The four were arrested later the same day.

February

The Madoc Golf course Study Group hired a consultant, Thomas McBroom and Associates to undertake a feasibility study concerning the possibility of a golf course in Madoc.

The new Photo I.D. licences came into effect on February 3rd.

Deputy Reeve T.C. Barton resigned from his position on the Madoc Village Council on February the 12th. He gave no reason for the resignation at the time but at a later meeting he explained that his decision to quit was due to what he felt was an inability to work with the new council. Council expressed their regrets over his decision and noted that he had made a substantial contribution to the community.

The first O.P.P. Crime of the Week feature appeared in the Review of February 19th. It featured the attempted robbery at the Madoc Beckers store which was thwarted by a store employee who threatened the three male would-be robbers with a steel bar. This feature asks citizens to provide information to the OPP in the hope that it might prove useful in solving a crime.

Madoc Minor Hockey held a successful Millionaires Night on the 15th. Eddy and Alexis Baxter and Dave and Dorothy McMaster split the grand prize of $1000.

Spring Water Awareness programs started in local schools this month. It warns of children of the dangers of playing around water at this time of year when the ice is beginning to show signs of break up and the spring run-off is starting.

Jim Watson hung up his butchers knives when he retired from the meat business and sold the operation to Gord Mackey of L'Amable.

The Easter Seals campaign got under way at the Kiwanis Club marking the 25th. year of participation by the club.

The Madoc Legion was broken into on the night of the 21st. Thieves made off with $2000 in cash and a quantity of cigarettes. The thieves or their friends must have found the break-in worthwhile because their was another break-in overnight on the 22nd. The loot this time was $400. in cash and more cigarettes.

Huntingdon Township announced expansion plans for their community centre in Ivanhoe. The proposed enlarged hall is designed to accommodate the municipal offices and council chamber as well as providing a larger hall. A traffic accident on Hwy 7, north of Tweed claimed 3 lives. The accident occurred during a freezing rain storm.

March

A report in the March 5th edition of the Madoc Review shows Jim Watson as being installed as Deputy Reeve to replace the resigned T.C. Barton, and Crichton Harrop who had run in the election the previous November was brought on council to bring it up to strength.

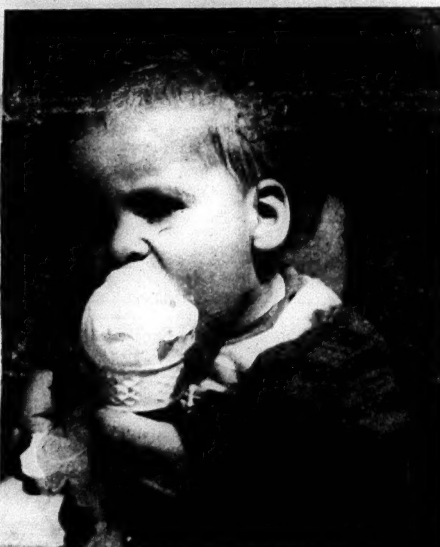

The Townships of Huntingdon, Madoc, Elzevir and Grimsthorpe and the Village of Tweed and Madoc agreed to undertake a Waste Management Study to develop a plan for a 20 year period.

A Camera Club was formed by Crichton Harrop and will meet every other Thursday evening at the Madoc Fire Hall.

Madoc Public Library took possession of a new Micro-film Reading unit which will enable it to expand it's services as a great deal of information is now available only on micro-film.

We learned in March that Elvi Brownson, a member of the Oakdale Rebekah Lodge No 134 of Madoc was honored with The decoration of Chivalry, the highest award for merit and honour that can be bestowed on a Sister Rebekah.

Applications for the spraying of private lands against the Gypsy Moth were being accepted.

This young man really enjoyed last summer's side-walk sale - right on the sidewalk.

April

The Mother's Auxilliary Atom won the title of Central Ontario Atom "D" Champions for 1986. This honor capped a very successful season for this team which lost only three games in both league and play-off action.

Mel Bronson retired from his garage and farm supply business when he sold the operation to John and Lyndon McCann. Mel had operated the business for 40 years and had decided enough was enough.

Madoc Minor Hockey wound up it's season with a Pot Luck Supper and Awards Night. According to our sports correspondent, Isabella Shaw, it was a very successful year and one with some imposing statistics. Teams played 239 games, winning 150, losing 74 and 15 tied games. Goals for 1279, against - 668. There were 29 shutouts, 99 hat-tricks (Brad Phillips with 11, Stephen Bancroft with 11) Joe Kehoe, Wesley Cromwell, and Derek Chapman each had 7 goal games, Brad Phillips had two 6 goal games and Duncan Kosziwaka had 1, 6 goal game.

The Madoc Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star celebrated their 60th. anniversary during this month and had two 40 year members, Alma Kernohan and Elsie Franks, on hand at the Anniversary Tea.

The new addition to the Health Unit was all but finished and the top floor has been leased to the Family Resource Centre. The first tenant to move in was Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Centre Hastings.

May

The local detachment of the O.P.P. held a three day reunion which saw about 50 out of town guests come to Madoc for the event. There was quite a schedule of events lined up but the big event was the dinner and dance which saw quite a few community members in attendance.

Campkin's Campground on Quin-Mo-Lac Road was the scene of a disastrous fire which destroyed the Recreation Hall and a workshop. Three fire departments responded to the call and were met with some confusion and difficulty in reaching the fire scene due to the large number of sightseers jamming the roadway with their cars.

Centre Hastings Secondary School celebrated Education Week with a pageant called Ethnic Kaleidoscope, with displays of items from all over the world. Many ethnic groups took part in presenting songs and dances from many countries.

V.I.P. (Values, Influences and Peers) graduations took place at Madoc Public School Const. Norm Papi congratulated the students and Kiwanians Richard Matchett and Gerry Rollins presented the graduates with T-Shirts and framed graduation certificates.

Madoc OPP investigated a shooting incident in Marlbank and two men were charged with the Dangerous Use of a Firearm. There were no injuries involved in the incident.

Madoc Cadet Corp and a contingent from the Madoc Legion were in attendance at an impressive drum-head service in Marmora. Members from nine legion branches turned out for this parade and age old ritual service.

Aerial spraying to combat the Gypsy Moth infestation took place this month but had their schedule disrupted several times by rainy weather.

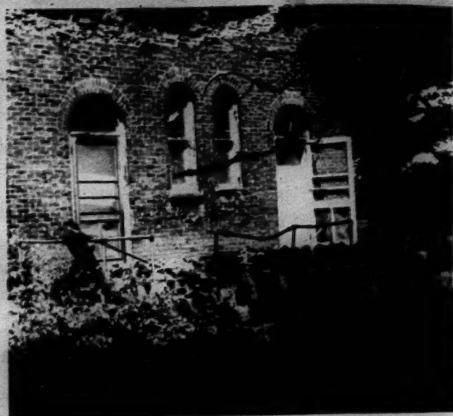

We first heard of Heidi Morgan this month. Heidi and her mother Christine seemed trapped by a series of events that delayed a much needed operation on the bone diseases that had struck Heidi. The doctor that was to perform the surgery had decided to move out of Canada because of his apparent unhappiness with government regulations, and O.H.I.P. were not about to pay for the operation to be done outside of Ontario.

The last day of May went out with an explosion of music, song and dance for the students at Madoc Public School as they presented their musical revue "Music Moves Me." It was a tremendous show that had it's audiences captivated.

June

A group of youngsters from the Madoc schools attended the Special Olympics in Oshawa this month, and not only did they enjoy themselves, they came home with loads of medals. Six students from the Public School won 12 gold medals, 3 silver and 1 bronze. Bonnie Deline, who lives in Tweed, had a fantastic day, winning 5 gold medals in individual events and a bronze as a part of the relay team.

Madoc Township School presented a delightful musical trip across Canada to a packed auditorium. This school

The old O'Hara school house was razed this month after some desperate attempts to save the building for historical reasons. Madoc Township Council took some heat for appearing to rush into the sale and permitting the demolition of the building.

Investigation proved however, that the property had been for sale for some twenty five years and council had attempted to donate it for conservation purposes but to no avail.

concert presented a variety of skits and songs which touched on some historic highlight of history or heritage giving an imaginative overview of our country.

Hughena Clarke retired from the Madoc Public School after 36 years of teaching. On the day of her retirement (Friday June 20th) she spent the morning being greeted by students from the school and at 2 p.m. there was an open house for past students and members of the community to visit.

There are now 14 area municipalities involved in the Waste Management Study Plan. This increase in members will have the effect of cutting down the cost of the study for the original five municipalities.

Provincial Court Judge J. Cassels commented on the lack of facilities at the Madoc Court. He announced that all persons held in custody will henceforth be dealt with in Belleville and that due to overloading of facilities in Trenton, he will be cutting down the court dates in Madoc and spending the time thus available in Trenton.

The question of Liability Insurance for country fairs came to the forefront as many policies were either being dropped or having their premiums increased to exorbitant rates.

Died

Members of the community were shocked and saddened to learn of the sudden death of George Baker, General Manager of Canadian Horizons Ltd. Mr. Baker was at his parents' home in Newfoundland when he suffered a massive heart attack on Christmas Day.

A spokesman for the Crystal Beach development, Bob Smith, said "We were devastated by the news. Our first thoughts were that he had been in an accident. George was only 39, and seemed to be in great shape. He had never complained of any illness or problems."

Mr. Smith indicated that he had no knowledge of funeral arrangements, but added, "We know we'll miss him around here."

A.T.V.'s

Minister of Transportation and Communications Ed Fulton, recently announced licensed trappers may now use all-terrain vehicles on most highways in Ontario as a result of an amendment to the Off-Road Vehicles Act.

Licensed trappers will now be allowed to drive all-terrain vehicles along highways when using these vehicles to tend their traps.

"While operating an ATV on a highway, trappers will have to display a slow-moving sign on the rear of their vehicle; hold a valid driver's licence; wear an approved helmet; and, of course, have insurance," said Fulton.

Madoc Township Public School celebrated its 25th anniversary and the large crowd in attendance included a great many people who had been involved with its inception. The first principal of the school, Florence McCoy was the guest speaker.

Do your friends and family have a pet name for you? Names such as "Tubby", "Chubs", "Butterball", or even "Slim." Has your new dress or suit "shrunk a little"?

Then join the club - The Tub Club!
Daryl Kramp is one of the prime movers of this club and the idea came to him not long ago when he weighed himself.

At the time, he was wearing his hat of Chief Organizer of Fund Raising for the Cancer Society, and as his bathroom scales creaked and groaned to 250lbs - 260lbs - 270lbs....., an idea hit him with a flash (about 4 candlepower - it was before breakfast and he hadn't had coffee).

The idea was simple. "Everybody complains of eating too much over Christmas and then vows to go on a diet in the New Year," he thought to himself. "Why not invite the community to join in a weight loss program, let each individual pick up sponsors who'll pledge so much per pound of weight loss and the money can be donated to the Cancer Society."

Thus the Tub Club came into being.

Anyone can join, (the Tub Club) that's a "tad" over weight (a "tad" is five pounds or more) and even if you are not over weight, you can be an honorary member and raise a few bucks for the Cancer Society.

Challenges are issued to other communities, groups and clubs can challenge each other and the whole community can raise funds to challenge the disease.

January the 17th is designated as official weigh in day. The Madoc Squash and Fitness Club will be doing their part in providing the scales to start the weighing process at 10 am. Pledge sheets will be available and your weight will be recorded by volunteers.

Line up your sponsors now. Get 10 people to sponsor you at 10 cents each per pound and that would be $1 per pound. Lose ten pounds and you will have raised $10 for the Cancer Society.

There will likely be prizes for the big winners (or should that be losers?), nothing fancy - a week on Mars for two (accommodation only) or a years supply of Christmas wrapping (used only once) or even two free passes to the 1985 Madoc Fair.

There's only one thing troubling the organizers. Say for example that there are 500 people involved in the weight loss program and each of them sheds 10lbs of excess blubber. That's 5000 lbs of weight loss, right? O.K., where can you store that 5000lbs?

Watch this paper for more details next week on THE TUB CLUB.

Obituary

Nathan Bronson

Funeral services were held on Dec. 22nd, 1986 for Mr. Nathan Bronson formerly of R.R. No. 4, Madoc.

Mr. Bronson had been a resident of Hastings Manor for the past 12 years and had been ill for three months, passing away at the Belleville General Hospital on December 19th, 1986 at age 94.

Born the son of John Wesley Brownson and Martha McComb of Madoc, he was predeceased by his wife Etta Leolla, and son Verle of Peterborough. He was also predeceased by sisters Ida of Madoc, Mary of Belleville, Mabel of Toronto and brothers Alex of Niagara Falls and Carman of Madoc.

Surviving children are Melvorne of Madoc, Donlon of Brockville and Grant of Madoc, as well as 14 grandchildren, 20 great grandchildren and 4 great great grandchildren.

A retired farmer, Mr. Bronson was educated at Spry Settlement School and was a member of the United Church. The funeral services, held at the McConnell Funeral Home in Madoc, were conducted by Reverend Annette Reinhardt with interment in Lakeview Cemetery.

O.P.P.

The weather over the Christmas and New Year's holiday period was, with one exception, not too cold and without storms.

Sgt. T.E. St. Germain of the madoc O.P.P. made note of the one "bad" driving period in his weekly report. "On Christmas Eve weather conditions were not the most favourable for driving. (Rain, freezing rain and wet snow). A total of eleven accidents were reported and fortunately there were no serious injuries sustained in these accidents. The most common cause of these accidents was that motorists were travelling too fast for the road and weather conditions."

During the period of December 15th to 28th., Madoc O.P.P. stopped 1458 vehicles, 3 persons were charged with alcohol related criminal code driving offences, 3 twelve hour licence suspensions were issued and 3 liquor licence act charges were laid.

A spokesman for the OPP at Madoc said that the officers at the detachment were pleased to see the number of chargeable offences kept to such a low level.

They are delighted that the public has paid so much attention to the publicity concerning drinking and driving and gratified that the drivers of vehicles that were stopped, co-operated readily with the officers and commended them for the job that they were doing.

BANTAM B'S RUNNERS UP

Madoc Bantams travelled to Havelock on the weekend and returned as 'B' runners-up.

In the first game of the day, they met Norwood. Norwood defeated Madoc 6-2. This loss dropped them to the 'B' side of the tournament. Brian Forestell scored both of Madoc's goals with assists going to Stephen Brinks, Jason Bailey and Shaun Chapman.

The tournament then went to a total two game point contest. They were pitted against the host club, Havelock, in this game. Even though they won the game 4-2, they were on the minus side when the penalties were figured in. Jason Bailey and Paul McMaster each scored twice in this game. Jeff Sawkins had two assists and Brian Forestell had one.

With a -1 count, this placed Madoc in an almost impossible situation, as they were matched against Port Hope, who came into the game with a 20 record. The boys, however, played a strong game, coming out on the short end of a 3-2 decision.

Congratulations boys on an excellent showing.

ATOM ACTION AT TOURNAMENT

The Atoms participated in a one-day tournament in Tweed and won one of their three games played.

They met Stirling in opening action and faced a very hot offence. It took a goal by Glen Meeks at 1:48 of the third to spoil a shut out bid by Stirling. The goal was assisted by Tom Burnside.

Final score of the game was 11-1 for Stirling.

Their second game was against the host team, Tweed. The locals won this game 4-2. Tom Burnside turned the hat trick and David Graham added the fourth. Assisting were Gerry Brownson, Glen Meeks, Marcie Deering, Tom Sandford and Pat St. Germain.

This win put them into the 'B' Championship game, in which they were defeated 11-5 by Deseronto. Tom Burnside again recorded a hat trick (his 8th of the year), and added two assists. Gerry Brownson and Glen Meeks also had a goal and an assist each. Tom Sandford and Brad McCracken added assists.

Madoc had to settle for 'B' Runners Up.

Northumberland County Gypsy Moth Spray Program

Gypsy Moth has hit Northumberland County in a big way. This past summer approximately 1400 hectares (3500 acres) of forest area had their leaves completely stripped. To help prevent a similar occurrence in 1987, the county has embarked upon a Gypsy Moth control program. Applications are now available for people wishing to participate in this program.

The landowner's cost to spray their forest is $8.00 per acre or 25 per cent of the total cost. The Province of Ontario is paying the remaining $24.00 per acre. Mr. Jim Tedford, the County's Gypsy Moth Coordinator has been checking stands for signs of the Gypsy Moth. He estimates that between 7,000 and 10,000 acres will need spraying in 1987.

Bacillus Thuringiensis (Bt) will be used again this year to help fight the Gypsy Moth infestation. This is an organic insecticide and does no harm to any insects except caterpillars; therefore, Bt does not affect bees or other beneficial insects. It also has a short life span and does not accumulate in the environment.

Main areas to be sprayed are a large block north of Castleton, and smaller areas north of Colborne, south of Wooler and north of Baltimore. Other scattered pockets of infestation can be found across the entire County. Participants in the Gypsy Moth control program will have their property sprayed by helicopters based out of the Trenton area. Attempts will be made to spray infested stands twice during the spray period.

Applications for the program can be picked up at any municipal office, the County office in Cobourg, the Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority in Trenton, or the Ganaraska Region Conservation Authority in Port Hope. Applications must be returned no later than February 28, 1987. People wishing more information can contact Mr. Tedford at 416-885-8173 in Port Hope.

Ontario residents require Sport Fishing Licence as of January 1, 1987

The Ontario Resident Sport Fishing Licence became mandatory on January 1, 1987. From that time, most Ontario residents, aged 18 to 64, will need a licence to fish. People with physical handicaps will not require a licence.

The licence will cost $10 for a year. A $5 licence, good for four consecutive days, is also available.

Your purchase of the Resident Sport Fishing Licence will help to raise an estimated $10-million a year. The Government will provide funds based on those licence sales for sport fisheries management projects across the province. These funds will help in rehabilitating fish spawning beds, further fisheries research and provide more fish stocking in Ontario's quarter-million lakes.

Licences can be purchased from a network of more than 3,000 private issuers or from any Ministry of Natural Resources District office.

Town Crier Jack Parsons was in full voice at the Mayor's Levee on New Year's day. In the confined space of the Town Hall, Jack's booming voice and ringing bell were almost too much to bear, but it was interesting to hear him call in the New Year.

Premier's award recognizes

Ontario March of Dimes achievements

The Ontario March of Dimes was recently recognized by the Premier of Ontario for their outstanding contribution to the field of barrier-free design.

The Premier's Award for Accessibility was accepted by Dr. David Logan, President of the Ontario March of Dimes. The annual awards program is sponsored by the Honourable Tony Ruprecht, Minister Responsible for Disabled Persons.

The Ontario March of Dimes has been involved with improving accessibility in communities across the province through their community development program since 1974. Their goal was to develop local groups of disabled people which would work with municipal governments and increase awareness of the need for barrier-free environments.

Through the work of these local groups, city officials began to recognize the need for such changes as curb cuts, ramps, handrails, wider entrances to buildings, and handicapped parking spaces.

The Ontario March of Dimes has had an impact on accessibility in communities in three major ways: education and awareness, advocacy, and direct service.

In Kingston, the Ontario March of Dimes with the co-operation and support of the Whig-Standard distributed a guide to accessible rental housing. It is a catalogue reference detailing all the features of apartments relative to mobility impairment.

On a provincial scale, the Ontario March of Dimes hired an architect in 1979 to provide a barrier-free architectural consulting service. The architect consulted on plans for new buildings and renovations to old, provided educational seminars, and assisted in locating sources of funding for costs involved in making buildings accessible. He also organized Canada's first barrier-free design conference which attracted building professionals from across the country.

The Ontario March of Dimes has also been instrumental in the development of the new Ontario Building Code. Since 1975 they have worked with the provincial government to expand the list of buildings which have to be made accessible. As of October, 1986, there are now few new buildings which are exempt from mandatory accessibility.

The revised code affects buildings such as apartments, hostels and group homes, institutions, and public places such as movie theatres, sports stadiums, and parking garages.

"Ontario now has one of the best building codes in Canada, as far as accessibility is concerned," said Jerry Lucas, Director of Program Development for the Ontario March of Dimes.

The work the Ontario March of Dimes has done in accessibility reflects the organization's philosophy to ensure the fullest participation and integration of disabled persons in society.

Community services are but one of the many programs operated by the Ontario March of Dimes. In order for these programs to continue, the organization has its largest fundraising campaign of the year in January and February.

Campbellford and District Curling and Racquet Club

Farmers' Bonspiel

The Campbellford and District Curling and Racquet Club's annual Farmers' Bonspiel was held December 12th, with a full sixteen-team turnout for this popular event, sponsored by Grosvenor Milk Transport.

Stirling's Bob Ray and his rink of Boyd Sullivan, Dale Martin and Jeff Sills piled up an impressive lead in the first two games, only to run into a pretty tough team (Elmer Morgan) in the third. It was only in the final end that the outcome was decided and Ray's rink was able to claim first place, with a total of 53 1/2 points.

Second place went to Dave Burnside's rink, with Doug Burnside, Mark Reid and Scott Shaw with 50 1/2 points.

As in past years, prizes for all participants were donated by many of the farm-related businesses in the area, as listed below. If anyone has been omitted, our sincerest apologies.

Minister of Natural Resources Proposes Numerous Amendments To Ontario's Game and Fish Act

Changes allowing the expansion of commercial aquaculture and the better management of black bear are among numerous amendments to the Game and Fish Act introduced in the Ontario Legislature recently by Natural Resources Minister Vincent Kerrio.

"The Act was last amended in 1960, and the amendments bring it up to date and enable the ministry to implement programs it has developed in the past six years," Mr. Kerrio said.

The amendments reflect general public concerns and result from consultation with a variety of interest groups, including the Northern Ontario Tourist Outfitters Association and the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters.

Among the key amendments are:

- Various changes in how the black bear will be managed in Ontario. Some of these changes include better control of the harvest and hunting methods.

- The expansion of commercial aquaculture by permitting the culture of additional fish species in the province.

- An increase in fines for any commercial violation of the Act. The existing maximum penalty will increase from $5,000 to $50,000 or imprisonment for a maximum of two years less a day, or both.

- Legislative authority to require hunters to wear high visibility orange clothing to reduce the type of accidents in which hunters are mistaken for game.

- Changes regarding the keeping of game in captivity, so that officials can better control or prevent both the keeping and marketing of such species as falcons, black bear and deer.

- Recommendations for hunter licensing and control of hunting methods with respect to the highly successful reintroduction of wild turkeys in Ontario.

- These and other amendments affect 49 sections in the Game and Fish Act of Ontario.

Big Week for Norwood Bantam B's

by Jim Parcels
(from late December)

It was another very successful week for the Norwood Bantam 'B's as they won both their league games and finished as 'A' runners-up in a tournament.

On Wednesday, Norwood travelled to Manvers and throttled the hosts 10-0. Joe Smith earned the shutout as Ed Walsh scored two; Cal Clarke, Brian Sinclair, Paul Fleming, Arron Iles, Murray MacPhail, Russ Hoffman, Todd Wood and Andrew Rowe popped the twine once each.

The next night, Norwood hosted Ennismore, one of the league's top teams and completely destroyed them 9-1.

Blair Miles scored three goals, Sinclair had two, with Wood, Clarke, MacPhail and Hoffman scoring once each.

On Saturday, the 'B's entered a tournament in Keene and won the opener 2-1 over Akil Sports of Peterborough. Wood scored twice for the winners.

In the second game, Norwood dominated Omemee 6-1. MacPhail scored three, Iles two, and Clarke one for Norwood. Again, Joe Smith was outstanding.

The 'B's then advanced to the final and took on St. James from Peterborough. The game ended 3-3 after regulation time. A five minute overtime was required, but the tie was still unbroken.

The game came down to a 'shootout' which, as far as I am concerned, should be kept in Oldtimers hockey, with St. James breaking the tie and winning 4-3.

Beat the bug

"There's a lot of that going around." These famous words greet each of us when we fall prey to some bug or other. Colds, coughs, the flu and other infections seem to hit more of us during the winter months than in the sunny days of summer and we can't even lie in the sun to recover! Before the bug gets you, or your family members, there are steps you can take to make yourself more resistant.

Each of us has an immune system, like an army of white knights defending us from destructive "foreign" intrusions. Nutrition is a well-recognized factor in our susceptibility or resistance to infection and disease. A balanced diet, regular exercise, a positive outlook (all that motherhood stuff!) can go a long way in keeping us well. But for those of us who don't always do what is best for us, vitamin and mineral supplements can help the immune system "troops" do their job.

Zinc has been shown to improve the immune system functioning of seniors. Vitamins C, B6, E and A are used by many people to fortify themselves against the bugs of winter. Panathenic acid and folate are two lesser known nutrients which are said to keep us healthier. Different bodies and different lifestyles determine whether or not deficiencies of these, or other nutrients are likely. The people at your neighbourhood health food store can give you information on natural products which can work for you.

While you do everything you can to build up your strength from within, here are some ways to avoid the bugs and infections at the same time:

Add some humidity to your home or office. Dry winter air dehydrates the passages in your nose and throat, making them more susceptible to infection.

March of Dimes Campaign begins January 1st

The Ability Fund, the major fundraising campaign of the Ontario March of Dimes, runs from January 1 to February 15. Thousands of volunteers across the province will raise over $400,000 to contribute towards the campaign goal of $1.16 million. Honorary campaign chairperson is the Honourable Paul Martin.

In addition to the appeals made by the volunteers, funds will be raised through mail campaigns; coin boxes; and a spectacular black-tie fundraising event, the Celebrity Gourmet Gala II in Toronto, February 28.

This annual campaign raises over half of the year's fundraising goal for the Ontario March of Dimes. The funds go toward assisting physically disabled adults through services such as vocational rehabilitation, providing aids to increase independence, community services, residential camps, and information for people experiencing the late effects of polio.

When you receive a request to support the Ontario March of Dimes please give as generously as you are able.

D.F. Young, Agricultural Representative Meetings January 6th, 7th and 8th - OAC Agricultural Conference, 11th

Farm Inventory Day

An essential part of farm business management involves taking inventory of all assets including livestock, crops and feed supplies. Farmers who file taxes on a basis are not required to take inventory adjustment to their records and over the years many have not done so. Good management, however, requires that inventory change be recorded periodically or at least once per year. For many farmers with a year ending December 31st now is the time to complete the inventory. Lending institutions and many of the farm assistance programs including the Ontario

Family Farm Interest Rebate program and the Beginning Farmer program require an accrual income statement. This involves recording inventory changes from beginning to year end. Maintaining an accurate inventory is a practice that most businesses have to do other than farmers. How often have you seen the sign 'Closed for Inventory' on a shopkeeper's window. Farmers should set aside three or four hours during the first week of January to complete their inventory. This should involve taking an actual count of livestock numbers and assessing a value.

- Wash your hands frequently. Even the ones you love can pass you a cold or flu bug unknowingly, because the virus may be infectious for days before the symptoms appear. Our hands can carry infection to our eyes, nose and mouths thousands of times in a day. The best prevention is to be healthy and keep your hands clean. For this same reason it is important to keep lots of clean towels around, perhaps one for each family member.

- Get plenty of rest. A week of holiday partying can be fun, but rest is one of the most important "strengtheners" against infection.

However, you choose to do it, here's hoping you and yours can beat the "bug" this winter. Courtesy of the Canadian Health Food Association and the Campbellford Courier.

RENT REVIEW UPDATE FOR TENANTS AND LANDLORDS

The Ministry of Housing announces the Rent Review Guideline for 1987.

The Rent Review Guideline for 1987 has been calculated at 5.2 per cent. This is the amount by which a landlord can increase the maximum rent for a unit during 1987 without approval from the Ministry of Housing.

In passing the Residential Rent Regulation Act, 1986, the Ontario Government has created a new system of rent review for the Province of Ontario to increase protection for tenants and to encourage the construction of new rental housing.

One of the important features of this new legislation is a Rent Review Guideline that reflects changes in inflation and promotes proper building maintenance for tenants.

The major features of the Residential Rent Regulation Act are:

- The extension of rent review to cover all private rental units in Ontario.
- The creation of a streamlined rent review process, designed to be accessible, quicker and ensure consistency.
- The establishment of a flexible Rent Review Guideline, adjusted annually to reflect changes in inflation and other economic factors.
- The creation of an Ontario-wide Rent Registry to record the maximum legal rent for every rental unit in the province.
- A Residential Rental Standards Board to ensure the proper maintenance of all rental properties in Ontario.

The Guideline has changed.

Until now, the Guideline has been a fixed amount that did not change with economic conditions.

The new Rent Review Guideline will be adjusted annually. It will be calculated using the most up-to-date components of the Consumer Price Index and other economic indicators. And it will apply to all rental units in the province.

How the new Rent Review Guideline is calculated.

- The formula used to calculate the 5.2 per cent Guideline for 1987 is based on changes in the cost of maintaining a typical well-run rental building.
- The new Guideline calculates the average change in costs over the preceding three-year period.
- Tenants receive greater protection in times of high inflation.
- Landlords have sufficient funds for good building maintenance. A new Residential Rental Standards Board will help ensure proper maintenance of rental units throughout Ontario, and failure to meet these standards may result in either suspension or forfeiture of rent increases.

Tenants can apply for a review of rent increases that are at or below the Guideline.

Tenants who wish to challenge a 5.2 per cent Guideline increase may apply to the Ministry of Housing for rent review on such grounds as changes in the standard of maintenance and repairs.

Landlords are required to justify a rent increase greater than the Guideline.

A landlord who requests more than the 5.2 per cent Guideline increase must apply to the Ministry of Housing for rent review to justify the increase. The landlord and tenants will review the matter with staff of the Ministry of Housing at a local Rent Review Office. A decision reached at the local level may be appealed by either the tenant or landlord to the newly-created Rent Review Hearings Board.

The Guideline will be announced by August 31 each year.

In future, the Ministry of Housing will announce the Guideline by August 31 for the upcoming year.

Some landlords have already served their tenants with notices of a rent increase due early in 1987.

Tenants in buildings constructed after 1975 are protected for the first time.

These are tenants whose units are being brought under rent review by this Act.

- Landlords who have charged tenants more than the Guideline since August 1, 1985, will be given a 60-day period early in 1987 to justify these increases.
- Landlords not applying to rent review within the 60-day period must rebate excess rents to tenants.
- For the present, tenants should pay the amount requested in the notice from their landlord until the matter is resolved by rent review.
- Under no circumstances should tenants make immediate deductions from their rent cheques.

Only one rent increase allowed annually.

- Landlords must give tenants at least 90 days written notice of a rent increase.
- The rent for a unit can be increased only once in a 12-month period.

Tenants in buildings constructed before 1976 continue to be protected.

These are tenants whose units were under rent review prior to the passage of the new Act and whose units continue to be under rent review.

- If the landlord's rent notice is for less than the 5.2 per cent Guideline, the tenant should pay the amount in the notice.
- If the landlord's rent notice is for more than the 5.2 per cent Guideline, the most the tenant should pay is 5.2 per cent.
- If the landlord has applied to the Residential Tenancy Commission for a 1986 rent increase but has not yet received a final order, the tenant should pay the amount in the landlord's notice or 4 per cent, whichever is less.
- If the landlord has been to rent review and has received a decision, the tenant must pay the amount approved by the Residential Tenancy Commission.

Open Air Rink

Work began on a new open air skating rink at the Cenotaph playground, last Wednesday.

There had been approaches made to the Village Council by some parents for such a facility, according to Councillor John Hall.

Walter Danford generously donated the use of a front-end loader to flatten and firm up a snow base for the rink and the Madoc Fire Department will flood the surface.

"This is not a rink for hockey," said Hall, "its for the use of younger children and some of the parents. Some parents, incidentally, have said that they will keep the ice surface clean."

Bob Henderson a member of the Village Committee of Adjustment, was on hand as the snow base was being prepared and recalled the "old days" when the creek which runs along the west side used to be dammed up with boards and water diverted to form a rink.

Hall hopes that the weather will co-operate and keep the ice in good shape and remarked that the Fire Department may have to come in from time to time to flood the surface.

This was the scene at Madoc Public School last week when a water pipe ruptured. Speculation as to the cause of the break varied between "It just wore out" to "It could have been caused by the blasting at the back of the school." Whatever the cause, it left an awful mess.

Water, Water, Everywhere.

Back to school was a wet occasion at the Madoc Public School last Monday.

Staff and students were barely settling down to the first class of the New Year when water began seeping through the floor near the office.

Principal John Murphy said

"From then on until the works department turned off the main supply, it was shovel and sweep the water out through the door. Even so we lost some paper supplies in our storeroom."

The school was closed on Tuesday and workmen located the offending water pipe. It was necessary for them to excavate inside and outside of the building to a depth of seven feet to isolate the break.

A new water line was then installed and school re-opened on Wednesday.

REMEMBER: Double parking in the Village of Madoc has become a problem for everyone. It is an offence under the Highway Traffic Act of Ontario to park as to interfere with traffic. Let's have some consideration for others.

Sgt. T. St. Germain, Madoc O.P.P.

No Meeting with Solicitor General

His letter indicated that the cut-backs were the "only solution economically feasible without closing the Madoc Court entirely." The letter went on to say that the Ministry will continue to monitor the situation and included his regrets that he would be unable to meet with the special committee of County Council.

Reeve Tom Deline is disappointed and upset over this decision and particularly the fact that there has been no meeting between the Ministry and those immediately involved with the situation in Centre Hastings. "We shall be discussing this matter at the County level and I should be in a position to make a statement at the January 23rd. County Council Meeting" said the Reeve.

The specially formed County Council Committee which was formed to try and prevent cut-backs in the operation of the Madoc Court, have had their hopes dashed for a meeting with Solicitor General Ian Scott.

In a letter to the committee, Scott outlined the reason for the cut-backs and at the same time declined a request for a meeting.

New O.P.P. District Commander

Superintendent R.E. Gordon

Back in 1958 there was a young O.P.P. officer at the Madoc Detachment by the name of Roy Gordon. He moved on in 1966 to other places, such as Brighton, Lancaster, Long Sault, Ottawa and Kanata.

R.E. "Roy" Gordon was back in Madoc last Thursday visiting some of the people he knew and to call on the local O.P.P. detachment.

This was no "visiting fireman" trip for R.E. Gordon. It was business. He's now Superintendent, District Commander for number 9 District which encompasses Madoc.

We had an opportunity to speak briefly with him during his visit and he says that he and his wife are delighted to be back in this area. "We have some very fond memories of our time here in Madoc," he said, "and I've had some delightful visits with some old friends this morning."

Superintendent Gordon recalled the day the present O.P.P. Offices were opened "It seemed quite big in those days, but somehow today it doesn't seem so large."

Headquartered in Belleville the Gordon's will no doubt be visiting old friends in Madoc in the future.

Three New Firefighters

Madoc Fire Chief Roger Snider, reports that three new firefighters have been added to the Fire Department's roster. This brings the total of men up to 19.

The new firefighters are, Terry Cross, Jim McConnell and Jeff Bingham. "Also," says Roger, "we have taken on two junior firefighters, Peter Sutton and Dennis Derry. These two young men (both over 18) will train with us until they reach the required age of 21, and then hopefully, they will become full members of the fire department."

All of the men, including the newcomers, will be undergoing training sessions on all of the equipment in the department as well as taking part in seminars and training sessions on firefighting techniques. "The object is to have all the men fully trained in every aspect of operating a fire department," said Roger. "Another thing we are going to do," he went on, "is to provide the necessary training on driving the fire truck for those members who do not have their Class "D" driving licence." This could save precious moments in the event of an alarm when two or three firefighters turn up at the fire hall and have to wait for a licenced driver to arrive.

Roger is pleased with the men in the fire department and is looking forward to completing the training sessions so that all will be in readiness.

It has been a fairly quiet period for fire calls so far, and it is hoped that it remains that way.

Voltage Reduction

Ontario Hydro will conduct a voltage reduction test on Tuesday January the 20th.

Voltage on the Ontario Hydro electrical grid will be reduced at three intervals during the day.

Testing the power distribution grid in this way helps to ensure that in the event of a generation emergency (such as the breakdown of a large generating unit), there will be no power interruptions. For most customers, the effect of these reductions will be imperceptible.

In the morning, from 10.30 a.m. to 11.30 a.m., voltage will be reduced by three percent. Between the hours of 1.30 p.m. and 2.30 p.m., and again from 6.30 p.m. to 7.30 p.m., voltage will be reduced by five percent.

A five percent reduction in voltage distributed over the Hydro system is equivalent to reducing approximately 500,000 kilowatts of electricity demand. That is the output of a single Pickering reactor and, if needed, is enough to meet the electricity needs of more than 180,000 homes.

Data collected from this test will also help Hydro locate and resolve potential operating or customer problems.

Hydro conducts a voltage reduction test once a year.

Can you accept a challenge? Are you ready for some fun?

A five-member team of Cembal Publications employees has issued a challenge to all local businesses to field a team and beat their fundraising in the upcoming Bowl for Millions, in aid of the local Big Brothers and Big Sisters agency.

Bowl for Millions

Michael Day, Team Captain, said that his team is presently being fitted for their company t-shirts and hats, and are already started on collecting pledges for Celebrity Day on February 14th.

Captain Day will be issuing challenges personally to local businesses over the next week or two, but can be reached at 473-4471 or 472-2431 for more information.

Is any local business prepared to take Michael's team on?

Another challenge has been issued by Jack Robinson, Reeve of Elzevir Township, to individuals in Centre Hastings. He is challenging EVERYONE to try to beat his pledges this year.

Jack has been top fundraiser in this area for two years in a row, and he feels he will be pretty hard to beat. Last year he raised $1122 for the local organization! He's aiming to win the Weekend for Two at the fabulous Inn on the Park, Toronto, again. Jack feels the prize is his already, but he is going to try to beat last year's total anyway.

Is anyone prepared to take up Jack's challenge?

We understand that there is another challenge being issued by Rawdon Township Council to all the other Councils in Centre Hastings to get involved in the Bowl for Millions fun. Come on Councilors, take Rawdon Township on!

Pledge sheets are available at various locations across Centre Hastings. Call 473-4247 and ask Shirley White for the location nearest you.

Hastings Federation of Agriculture

By Ken Yarrow

The Hastings Federation has been very active in the last year and some of the issues we have been involved in 1986 are: International Ploughing Match Promotional and educational articles in Agri-gram. Special meetings in Bancroft with guest speakers Roger George.

Mall display for Agri-food Week (We are going to this again this year). Soil and Crop display at Knights of Columbus Trenton. Annual banquet and dance with Ross Stevenson as speaker. In this year we have the Honourable Jack Riddell Minister of Ag. on March sixth - more details later. Annual meeting Joanne Sutherland as speaker.

LOBBYING:
1. Brief to Federal Liberal Party Task force on Agriculture, Belleville

2. Brief to Ont. Institute of Agrology task force.
3. Meeting in Syracuse New York with our US counterparts, thanks to arrangements by
4. Our MP Jack Ellis, subject freer trade.

5. Leadership seminar in Belleville

ENVIRONMENTAL:
1. Radio talk shows on Spills Bull and waste management.

2. Presentation to spills hearing in Kingston.
3. Numerous waste management hearings - public meetings attended.
4. Attended tour of Oswego County New York Energy from waste plant and handling facilities.

We feel that we have gained a wealth of information and kept the farming communities needs and feelings up front, especially in the political field, that's where the decisions are made. We feel that if farmers and their representatives just sit back and say or do nothing then it won't be long until its game over for independence and profitability.

Is there anyone else besides myself who dreams of a day when we can sell our product for a reasonable profit without having to continuously ask for subsidies and monitor Govt. programs and policies. You can't put all the blame on politicians as they are getting equal - lesser and greater pressure from a multitude of sources. In 1987 we must stick together and we at the county level will do our best to represent and inform you of all issues great or small. May 1987 bless you and all yours.

Youth Commissioner's Report

Former Ontario Youth Commissioner Ken Dryden, in a report released today, called on the provincial and federal governments to affirm their commitment to full employment.

In every poll taken in recent years, Dryden says, Canadians have cited unemployment as their number one concern. The Forget Commission report makes clear that at hearings across the country, the message was the same - there should be a full employment policy in Canada. Yet while unemployment has decreased slightly, Dryden says, it is still far above full employment levels and is forecast to remain so for at least the next decade.

"There exists an enormous mismatch between public expectations and government policies," Dryden points out. "More money is being spent on education, training and job creation programs. There is greater emphasis on entrepreneurship, small business and export development. We understand present and future needs far better. Yet add up the impact of all these policies and measure them against the problem and the result is not full employment or anything near it, now or in the near future. That is what the forecasts are really telling us."

Dryden stresses that making full employment a goal represents more than a gesture. "It is the necessary first step," he says. He cites Sweden and Japan as examples. "It is not the Swedish system of government that is responsible for an unemployment rate of less than three per cent," he argues. "It isn't the relationship that exists between industry and labour or specific employment programs. It is a basic understanding shared by Swedes that full employment is a principal economic goal." Indeed, Dryden says, it is from that understanding, with political expression, that many of these structures and relationships emerge.

Dryden believes the Canadian people share those same values and goals. It is the political expression that is absent. "The disturbing irony," he says, "is that so fundamental a goal as a job for everyone who wants to work and can work, should have come to seem so politically unutterable."

Dryden's Report also stresses the connection between education and unemployment. Dryden says that the school drop-out problem "came as my biggest shock as Youth Commissioner." He points out that excluding private schools, "40% of students in Ontario beginning in grade 9 do not graduate from grade 12; 76% do not graduate from grade 13... Put another way," he says, "for a medium-sized Ontario city with ten high schools, the equivalent of one school of grade 12 bound students, and one-and one-half schools of grade 13 bound students disappears each year." And predictably, Dryden says, the lower the level of education for a young person the higher the unemployment rate. Dryden believes that two major changes must take place before the drop-out rate will change.

"First, there needs to be a change in the education system's psychology. Students at risk of dropping out are often the hardest to deal with. They require more time, more effort, more patience, more of the resources of the system. Yet if they leave, the system's responsibility is at an end, and the price it pays for students leaving is small. The psychology is backwards," Dryden says, "and conspires against success."

Responsibility for young people, even drop-outs, should remain with the education system until at least age 18, to ensure they find the counselling, training, apprenticeship or work experience they need."

Further, Dryden says at risk students lack a goal within the education system. Long before they decide to drop out, they can feel themselves falling behind. They know that college and university are not possibilities. "What then becomes their reason to get up in the morning," he asks, "to get to school on time, to work hard and take home work at night? Too often," he says, "the only visible goal is a 16th birthday. This must change. It seems incredible," Dryden says, "that a universal system which by its very structure encourages success in the successful and reinforces failure in those who are not. For reasons of equity and economic productivity, an education/training system is necessary."

Dryden's Report makes only two recommendations. He

C.H.S.S. News

By LeeAnne Cole

Early in December of last year, C.H.S.S.'s Annual Literary Contest was held. The competition was judged by Ms. Ferguson and Mrs. Morrison, who say that the turnout of literature from the students this year was exceptional, especially in the poetry division.

There were two categories in the contest, which were poetry and prose. In the senior division, (grades 11 - 13), Dave Armstrong won first place in the prose division. Also on the senior level, Joshua Pierce and Dave Armstrong won first and second place standings, respectively, in the poetry category.

In the junior section (grades 9 and 10), Clark Harrop took first place in both divisions, while Matthew Hickey took second place in prose.

The winners were announced at both Junior and Senior Christmas assemblies on December 19th., and were awarded their prizes, which were $25 for first place and $10 for a second place.

The winning entries will be published in this year's Year Book, which is being produced under the instruction of Mr. Harrop.

Congratulations are extended to the winners of the contest as well as to all others who entered.

Rylstone Institute

Traditionally, women have been left out of financial planning. They have been taught to take care of others around them, to nurture, to communicate and be supportive. They do these things well. But they should also learn how to be responsible for caring for themselves financially.

Lise Allin, who runs her own company, Money Concepts, Belleville, stated that in your planning, you should have a cash reserve equal to three months income. Ms. Allin was speaking at the January meeting of the Rylstone Women's Institute. Special guests were Zion UCV.

Most people don't plan to fail, they fail to plan. Until recently, financial planning had been a service reserved only for the wealthy. But in today's world, people at all income levels are finding themselves in need of financial guidance.

In fact, the less affluent in our society now recognize their need for such planning, because each dollar of their income means so much more to them.

The free financial planning cycle includes four phases: 1) information gathering, 2) personal goal setting, 3) analysis of current financial status, 4) development and implementation of financial plan.

The president, Mrs. Jessie Kerr, opened the first meeting of the new year with a reading, "The Price of Time".

Any W.I. member interested in attending the F.W.I.O. 90th Anniversary Convention in North Bay, July 6-9th, please contact Mrs. Donna Phair. Applications must be in by February 28th.

Mrs. Dorothy Thomson volunteered to make and send a small craft article from our branch to help support this convention.

The bus trip this year will be to Kingston and area, and will include a boat cruise among the Thousand Islands.

Rylstone W.I. members who were at the January meeting are participating in a Pennies For Friendship. This money goes to A.C.W.W., which is the world organization with which Women's Institute is affiliated, to help raise health standards in underdeveloped countries.

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 4th, 1:30 p.m., in the W.I. Hall. Roll call is an item of news on World Affairs. Guest speaker is Lois Brown, who will be demonstrating putty pots.

Lake Trout Season Changes

After extensive public consultation with sportsmen, local municipalities and interested residents, the Bancroft District of the Ministry of Natural Resources is proceeding with the initial phases of their lake trout management strategy.

Eels, Fishtail and L'Amable lakes will remain closed throughout the winter and early spring. The angling season for lake trout on these six lakes will open on the 3rd Saturday in May and close on September 30th, annually.

and rehabilitation projects will help ensure natural reproduction and healthy lake trout fisheries.

The Ministry is also committed to experimenting with other harvest control techniques designed to maintain recreational opportunities while affording protection to sensitive lake trout stocks.

It is expected that the season changes, together with other, ongoing fisheries enhancement

Madoc Township Council

Council held the first meeting of 1987 on January 5. Tom Bruce advised Council of the activities of the Roads Department during the month of December. He also reported that the new snowplough truck had been delivered on schedule. The Roads Voucher was submitted in the amount of $114,213.13 and was approved on a motion of Dep-Reeve Harris and seconded by R. Sager. Following discussion on the proposed Roads Department activities for 1987, Dep-Reeve Harris, supported by Councillor Howard, moved a Resolution that the Township of Madoc apply for a supplementary subsidy for construction of a new sand dome. Councillors Reid and Sager moved a Resolution to apply to the Ministry of Transportation and Communications for a supplementary subsidy to complete reconstruction of the O'Hara's Road for approximately $60,000.00.

Representatives of Frank Downey Insurance Agency and Frank Cowan Insurance attended to discuss insurance requirements and to submit a quote for the premium for municipal insurance for 1987. Mr. Jean De Jong waited on Council to advise of the progress of the new municipal recreation building and to discuss proposals for items required in the new building.

Francis Bosley, Chief Building Official reported that 47 building permits were issued in 1986 with a total value of about $600,000.00.

The Clerk will be acting on a motion by Councillor Sager, seconded by Harold Harris to contact the Township's solicitor to have him draw up a by-law to prohibit use of any type of trailer in Madoc Township as a residence except in areas designated as Tent and Trailer Park sites.

Council gave two readings to rezoning by-laws, one on Lot 26, Conc. 9, Mr. G. Rollins to permit operation of a gravel pit and another, on Part of Lots 6 and 7, Mr. D. Scaife, Conc. 7, to operate a gravel pit. The Clerk will be circulating the zoning applications as required by the Planning Act.

Council approved severance application 396/86 by Mr. L. Trotter to sever a house from an existing farm.

Harold Harris supported by Gerald Reid moved a Resolution to apply for a Wintario Development grant to assist with the purchase of equipment required for the new recreation hall.

The new Mutual Aid Fire Agreement with the City of Belleville was reviewed by Council. It will take effect commencing in 1988. It was approved on a motion of Jack Howard seconded by Robert Sager.

Council will hold their next regular meeting at noon on February 2 at the Township Office.

Eldorado United Church Women

by M. Griffin
The first meeting of the Eldorado United Church Women for the year 1987 was held at the home of Audrey Chambers. There was an attendance of sixteen. The new president Evelyn Boyle discussed New Year's resolutions with the members. The retiring president Lois Blackburn thanked everyone for their help in her term of office.

It was decided that we would send a donation to the Inuit people of Labrador for the purpose of buying blankets.

In the programme prepared by Mary Blackburn she told of the work of some dedicated women.

The February meeting is at the home of Dora Palmer on the third of the month. Each person takes a lunch which will be sold by auction to the highest bidder.

Audrey served a delicious lunch.

That's it. No more excuses. The Thanksgiving turkey was delicious. The Christmas plum pudding was superb and eggnog on New Year's Eve was the best yet. And though the holiday season has ended, the memory of those special moments lingers on. O.F.A. Convention - Best Ever

By Ken Yarrow

As many are already aware Harry Pellissaro was replaced as Pres. by Bridget Pyke of Wolfe Island, the margin 31 votes. A first lady Pres. for OFA. We in the OFA are extremely satisfied with our new executive and are looking forward to an active and rewarding future.

Another first was the public announcement of voting results, a positive step in my mind as the persons running knew exactly where they stood. In the past it was kept confidential to relieve embarassment, I am told.

Others elected were Keith Buchner of Brownsville, 1st vice Pres., Jack Wilkinson, Camlachie, second vice Pres., also added to the executive by ballot at the directors meeting later were: Doug Avery, Brockville; Bill Benson, Palmerston; Roger George, Powassan; and Earl Saar of Pembroke, congratulations to all these people.

Delegates to convention from Hastings County were: Brian Kerby, Donna Kerby, Don Wilson, Brian Chadwick,

Fred Keating, Bill Langstaffe and Ken Yarrow. It was felt by all that this has been a very productive and interesting convention. This was very easy to see as all sessions were attended by nearly 100% of all delegates and when votes were counted the eligible numbers were in place. Some resolutions that were along the same lines as previous years were rewritten to gain passage were highly debated and in most cases passed. I think that the reason seemed to be the delegates were aware of the changes in our industry. These changes are requiring even greater cohesion among farmers as well as a more aggressive and determined stand. If resolutions dealing with hardhosed policy are defeated then it leaves our executive and board in a very awkward position. For instance a highly debated resolution centered around commodity referendums. To simplify a long resolution - that the OFA approach red meat producer groups and form a committee to organize a referendum vote dealing with the desires of the producers as to what type of marketing system they would like to see in place for their product. The bottom line being that if a majority of 66% were in favour of one type in particular, that it be implemented without objection by any group involved.

The intent being that some of the producers are unable to have input and it was felt that a referendum would give all producers equal opportunity for a voice.

2000th Youth Capital Loan

Jan Soeterman's didn't need a lot of help developing her artistic abilities. That talent came naturally to the Ottawa woman.

But the Ontario Ministry of Skills Development has helped Jan, 24, launch a commercial art business by giving her an interest-free Youth Venture Capital Loan. With the approval of her loan, Jan became the 2,000th young person to take part in the program since it started November 1, 1984.

"Millions of dollars in sales have been generated from businesses operated with the help of Youth Venture Capital loans and the cost to the taxpayer is minimal because of the support we have received from our private sector co-sponsors," said Skills Development Minister Gregory Sorbara.

The program encourages young people to consider an entrepreneurial career.

The ministry offers an interest-free loan of up to $5,000 for eligible entrepreneurs between 18 and 24 years who are not students and can operate their new business on a full-time basis throughout the year. Also eligible are those between 25 and 29 years who have graduated from a post-secondary school or obtained a trade certificate in the past year and no longer attend school full-time.

The ministry sponsors the program in co-operation with The Royal Bank of Canada, the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, and the Ontario Ministry of Industry, Trade and Technology. They provide educational and consultative services for young people applying for loans. Local Royal Bank branches check the applications and forward a recommendation to the Ministry of Skills Development.

Youth Venture capital is one of two Business Start Up programs operated by the Ministry to provide interest-free loans to young people with a good business idea. The other is Student Venture Capital, which helps students start a summer business.

As far back as she can remember, Jan has always wanted to be an artist. In high school, she concluded it would be difficult to make a living as a fine artist so she turned her attention toward graphic design and commercial art.

After completing a three-year graphic design program in 1983 at St. Lawrence College of Applied Arts and Technology in Kingston, Jan gained valuable experience working for several companies.

In November, Jan successfully applied for a $4,000 Youth Venture Capital loan at the Royal Bank in Ottawa. It enabled her to purchase some basic tools and art supplies.

"That money was vital to the well-being of the business," said Jan. "I was able to do a lot more things than I could have done before."

Jan's advice to other young entrepreneurs is to get experience, research the market, work hard and obtain capital.

And she highly recommends they apply for a Youth Venture Capital loan if they are eligible.

Other young people who received Youth Venture Capital loans have started businesses in hair dressing, landscaping/snowplowing, computer maintenance and software design, photography, maid services, video sales and rental, electronics, plumbing, carpentry, automobile repair. Fitness centres, delicatessens, bake shops and catering services are operating today as a result of Start Up loans from the Ministry of Skills Development.

Young people can call free for further information to the Ontario Youth Hotline at 1-800-387-0777.

ATTENTION LOCAL COMMUNITY GROUPS AND NON-PROFIT HOUSING ORGANIZATIONS

Help create rental units for people with special housing needs.

Special provincial funding for 3,000 units.

The Government of Ontario has made a special commitment to fund 3,000 new, non-profit housing units primarily dedicated to disadvantaged people.

Who will this program help? Mainly people who are physically, developmentally or psychiatrically handicapped, battered women, homeless people and other socially disadvantaged persons.

The Ministries of Housing, Health, and Community and Social Services are working together to help people throughout Ontario who require a combination of support-care services and housing.

Projects that house low-income families and senior citizens as well as disadvantaged groups will be considered. Innovative housing projects for disadvantagged, low-income, single people will also be considered on a demonstration basis.

Attend our briefing sessions this February.

Interested community groups and non-profit organizations are invited to attend orientation sessions on the development of housing with support services. Meetings will be held in February at each Regional Office of the Ministry of Housing.

Representatives from the Ministries involved will be on hand to speak and to answer questions.

Local community organizations wishing to sponsor non-profit housing projects can apply for government grants to cover the costs of establishing non-profit housing corporations.

Call now for complete details.

Preliminary applications indicating an intent to develop a housing project with support services are to be submitted by March 31, 1987. Eligibility depends on the degree and nature of care provided.

The federal government, through Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation, will provide mortgage loan insurance for all projects funded by this program.

For more information and meeting times, contact your nearest Regional Office of the Ministry of Housing listed below.

*Up to 1,000 units will be selected from applications for supportive housing previously submitted to the Ministry of Housing.

Fighting Back

by Melissa Taylor
The following is the first in a series of articles based upon the Legal Rights and Local Resource Handbook for Victims of Domestic Violence. While the handbook is intended to provide encouragement and guidance to abused women, it is also hoped that it will lead others to help solve this social problem. As long as there is violence in the home, there will be violence in the streets. The social costs of domestic violence are too high to be overlooked by society. Acknowledging that the problem exists in every community and understanding the nature of abuse are the first steps towards finding a solution.

PART ONE: Identifying the Problem

Experts believe that four out of every 10 women in Canada are abused in their own homes. Evidence indicates that battered women come from all economic and social classes. Approximately 25 of all Canadian homicides occur in fights between spouses. In 1982, 52 per cent of all female homicide victims were killed in a family context. Forty per cent of all wife assaults begin when the wife is pregnant.

These statistics from Education Wife Assault are alarming. They clearly show that if you are a woman who lives in a violent home - you are not alone! What is abuse? Abuse is not always physical. Other forms of abuse can be just as harmful. When the terms wife assault or wife battering are used, they usually refer to physical violence or injury. Wife abuse includes other forms of mistreatment and cruelty such as constant threatening and psychological violence (or mind games).

All types of abuse have one thing in common - they are used to create fear. This fear is what gives the male partner the power to control the female partner. The male partner may be a husband, a boyfriend or a common-law spouse.

Am I an abused partner? If your husband or common-law partner does any of these things you may be a victim of abuse. Does he tell you that you are ugly, fat or stupid and that he is doing you a favour by staying with you? Does he cut off contacts with your friends and stop you from making new friends? Does he read your mail? Does he threaten to hurt anything that is special to you like a pet or a favorite dress? Does he threaten to hit you? Does he say that he has a right to discipline you because you are bad or because you bother him? Does he strike you with his hand or any other object?

If you are an abused wife you probably share a number of beliefs with a large group of other women who find themselves in situations like yours. In most cases battered women do not believe that anyone can really help them. They do not believe they can take care of themselves. Most abused women believe in the traditional sex roles. Because the man is the head of the household he has the right to discipline them. They often believe that the violence is partly or totally their fault. This is largely because the men usually tell them this is so.

They are ashamed of their injuries and of themselves. If these women leave their partners they almost always return at least once. If you find that you have these beliefs you must realize that they are wrong. Do not allow them to make you stay in a dangerous relationship.

Why do women stay in a violent home? Until recently the avenues of escape were more difficult to endure than the beatings themselves. There was a time when a man who could not attack a stranger on the street could beat his wife regularly and get away with it. There was a day when a husband could not be convicted of raping his wife.

Since 1983 the Attorney General has directed all police to lay charges in all cases of domestic violence where it is appropriate. But women who are abused continue to feel isolated, ashamed and scared to seek help.

The general public still maintains a veil of silence around the topic. While professionals can there are virtually no facilities specifically for battered women. The legal system seems big, inhuman and complicated.

Through this handbook we hope to show that the legal process - the courts, the law and the police - are there to help people. They can be understood. They must be used.

Next...A Battered Woman's Options. The complete printed version of this handbook will be introduced to the public on Sept 18 at the conference, Battered Women: A Community Approach, to be held at College Hill United Church, North Park St. For further information, call Hastings and Prince Edward Legal Services at 966-8586.

Melissa Taylor is a Queen's University law student who worked for the Quinte Coordinating Service Against Domestic Violence to prepare this legal rights, local resource handbook.

20th Anniversary

In celebration of its 20th anniversary, The Quinte Arts Council has announced plans to publish a book of photographic art.

Over the next few months members of Photomatrix (The Quinte Association of Photographic Artists) a member group of The Quinte Arts Council, will travel through Hastings, Prince Edward, Northumberland and Lennox and Addington activity in the Quinte region.

The photographs will be environmental portraits of artists at work. All artists in the four county region are encouraged to participate in this project by calling the Quinte Arts Council at 962-1232. Accompanying text for the book will outline the development of the Arts in the Region.

Loyalist College is co-operating in this project by releasing Joe Callahan of some of his teaching master duties temporarily, while he serves as editor for this project. Local residents Bill Whitelaw and Wilma Alexander will serve as assistant editor and writer respectively. Steve Campbell of County Magazine will be the Associate Art Director.

The final product will be 10 inch by 10 inch hard cover book with black and white photographs reproduced using the best possible reproduction process, on high quality paper. A colour dust jacket will cover the book.

Letter to Editor

Dear Sir:

I am asking the readers of your newspaper to share with me any amateur weather forecasting methods known or followed by your readers. Rural Canadians, in particular, still retain that blessed affinity with nature which the city people may have lost or forgotten, and I am hoping the rural folks will be most generous in their response.

Should I receive enough replies I will then, through the assistance of the Explorations Program of the Canada Council, put all information in a book and make it available to Canadians.

To illustrate the sort of things I am looking for: on the Canadian Plains many people believe that precipitation will follow ninety days after a fog. Others believe that the length of a hog's "weather vane" (part of the pancreas?) at butchering time indicates the severity of the approaching winter. To forecast the moisture prospects for the next year, slice a large onion in two halves and the twelve inner rings will show the moisture content of the year to come.

The tremendous advances in modern, scientific weather study are threatening to overwhelm the homespun methods used by generations of Canadians; methods used long before the development of "high tech" weather forecasting.

In addition, the gradual passing of our senior citizens, the people most familiar with folk weather lore, will contribute to the loss of this important facet of Canadiana. With the help of the people we can prevent any further loss.

Sincerely, R.M. Himsi, 248 Grandview St. W., Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, S6H 5K7.

New Sexual Assault Laws

"One step forward and one step backward." That's the way University of Guelph sociologist Ronald Hinch describes the changes in Canada's sexual assault laws. He is studying the pros and cons of the new laws and how police handle sexual assault cases. Since the new laws were instituted, there has been only a marginal increase in the number of charges laid following reported incidents.

On January 4th, 1983, the legal charge of rape ceased to exist in Canada and was replaced by three charges: sexual assault (without definition), sexual assault with a weapon or causing bodily harm and aggravated sexual assault. The name change, accompanied by changes in rules of evidence and court procedure, was a response to criticism that Canada's rape laws discriminated against women.

It was hoped that changing the charge from rape to sexual assault would lead to more reporting of these crimes, especially by women, says Hinch. The new laws remove the need for the victim to prove vaginal penetration and also the stigma of the word "rape". In addition, they make it difficult for defence lawyers to drag the victim's sexual history before the court. The result should be a focus on the violent rather than sexual nature of the attack, he says.

There is concern, however, that women may still feel social pressure against reporting such incidents, especially when the offender is her husband or a male acquaintance. Hinch says police may be reluctant to charge a husband with sexual assault, still frequently considered to be a "family dispute". In addition, he says, the less severe penalties applied to the new laws may trivialize the crime and result in increases in sexual assault. Because of social biases and beliefs that tend to blame the victim, police may continue to classify some cases of sexual assault as unfounded because there is insufficient evidence or because they suspect the accusation may be false.

The step forward-step backward theory also applies to police processing, says Hinch.

Although the changes have made it easier to lay charges and reduce the number of unfounded cases, he says, there has been an increase of only three per cent in the rate of charges laid following reported incidents. He suspects that because the new laws are vague, they are not being consistently applied in courts across the country. Definition of what constitutes a valid case of sexual assault is left first to the discretion of police, then to prosecutors, trial judges and juries. The charter of rights further complicates due process, Hinch says.

From a study of Halifax police records for the years 1982 to 1984 inclusive, Hinch concludes that police handling of sexual assault complaints doesn't appear to have changed significantly as a result of the new laws. In many cases, police continue to use the old labels of "rape" and "indecent assault" when completing their reports. The laws were changed to help questionable cases make it into court but they aren't working, he says. The number of unfounded cases, or cases cleared without the offender being charged remains high, he says.

Hinch would like to do a larger, more comprehensive study in a southern Ontario community to obtain further evidence supporting his initial findings.

C.H.S.S. Martial Arts.

January is Winter registration month again for our Dojo and newcomers are welcome to join on Monday, Jan. 26, at Centre Hastings Secondary School in Gym 3.

Our very active martial arts programme offers five different Oriental martial arts - Karate, Jiu Jitsu, Lost Track Kung Fu, Ying Yee Kung Fu and Tai Chi.

All our courses are certificate-granting from the Beginner level through to the Black Belt levels and our workouts are quite brisk and highly disciplined.

One of our most successful endeavors is the Children's Martial Arts course, which runs on Mondays at 6 p.m. (This course also includes Street-Proofing, alcohol and drug abuse/awareness, and our special leadership course.)

The Tai Chi class at 9 p.m., begun just this fall, has become quite a workout for the legs and for flexibility of the waist and back. Eventually, the members of this class will have the self defence aspects of Tai Chi introduced to them.

Any information on these courses can be obtained by phoning 473-4366.

Congratulations to two of our youngsters from the kids' class who passed to White Belt stripe just recently - Duncan McNeil and Vernon Westall.

Many of the children who have passed to the stripe earlier on will soon be trying for the Yellow Belt in Karate and in Jiu Jitsu.

Our big inter-club martial arts tournament, scheduled for the Belleville YMCA in February, will see a team of over 20 from our kids' class competing along with our adults.

The captain of our kids' team is Alex Godfrey, assistant captain is David Jackson of Marmora, an Orange Belt. Spearheading the adults' team is Sempai Brian Armstrong.

The lapel buttons - "Karate Kids Don't Do Drugs" - are now available to all our youngsters in an effort to get this very important message out to the community.

Drug abuse of any kind can destroy lives. This entire effort is being financially supported by the military police of CFB Trenton.

St. Peter's Presbyterian Women's Club

The January meeting of the Women's Club was held on Mon. Jan. 5th at the home of Mrs. Reta Pitts, with 16 members present.

The President, Anne McIntosh, opened the meeting by reading the quotation made famous by King George VI in his Christmas broadcast in 1939 -

"I said to a man who stood at the gate of the year

Give me a light that I may tread safely into the unknown

The Devotional, conducted by Mrs. Sue Beals, began with the hymn "O God our help in ages past" and a poem "Slow me down, Lord". After the hymn, "All the way my Saviour leads me", Mrs. Beals read a new year's message and closed with prayer.

The Card Convener, Mrs. Prudence McCoy, reported sending 25 Christmas cards to the sick and shut-ins.

It was also reported that 45 church calendars have been sold.

Several projects for the coming months were discussed, beginning with a noon luncheon in February.

Prudence McIntosh presented a very interesting program on Tartans which were used as early as the 17th century. They were predominant in the northern part of Scotland where the clans lived in designated areas.

The first tartan appeared in Canada in 1773 in Pictou, N.S. Since 1967, most of the Canadian provinces have adopted a distinctive tartan.

Prudence illustrated her talk with an attractive display of Tartans.

Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. Thelma McCoy and Mrs. Laura Gaebel.

Mrs. Mary Hubbell expressed the thanks of the group to everyone who assisted with the meeting.

Initial tatting course being offered at Campbellford

A four-week tatting course offered at Campbellford District High School in February could be the answer to many ladies in this news area. At the International Plowing Match in Stirling on September 20th, Aureen Richardson of Warkworth surprised many people with a tatting demonstration. Ladies frequently stated, "I never anticipated that I would get tatting information at the Ploughing Match". Ladies from Trenton, Belleville, Madoc, Marmora and Stirling requested lessons. These ladies may be part of this first tatting class offered at this school.

Unique Craft

Tatting is a unique craft. It is a series of double knots done with a shuttle. Tatted articles are doilies, snowflakes for Christmas tree decorations, necklaces, dress trimmings, bookmarks and flowers on stationery. This craft is much finer and daintier than crocheting.

Experienced Teacher

Richardson, a teacher of more than thirty years has taught the craft in many places. Since 1975 she regularly demonstrates at Lang Century Village, Peterborough County. One spectator who appreciated the intricacies of tatting wrote in her autograph book, "Tatting looks to me like a delicate and time consuming business. The end result is attractive and unique. With today's technology, the skill to make hand items could be lost. I hope it is not, so keep tatting."

To preserve the dying art, Richardson is happy to teach it. She taught a thirty hour course in tatting for Loyalist College in 1982, the Women's Institute group near Stirling, of White School, Belleville Newcomers' Club, Hastings Resource Centre and in Belleville.

Frustrating Craft

When spectators watching Richardson's demonstration state, "I tried tatting, but I could not master it," Richardson says that she knows that feeling. Intermittently during a 34 year period, she tried tatting with her mother's verbal instructions. Her mother always commented, "Your knots are upside down." Her mother, the late Verda Brown of Rosemeath had taught her what to do with her right hand, but hadn't explained that the left hand controlled the tension. As well as her mother, Richardson is indebted to several people for sharing ideas on tatting.

It was Margaret Goodfellow of Codrington who finally showed her how to control the tension with the left hand; Helen Atkinson, an eighty-seven year old friend accidentally used variegated thread during a demonstration and Richardson saw how the thread of double knot actually changed colour when tension is correct, and Catherine Convey of Campbellford who showed the combination of two threads - ball and shuttle or two shuttles. Richardson has been able to incorporate the expertise of these individuals.

Instruction Sheet

Because Richardson is a craft person, she usually has little difficulty in following instructions. She found the initial tatting instructions in tatting books as inadequate; hence, she wrote her own sheets to carefully explain tension. In August 1986, she had an unusual request by Joan Reid of Belleville who requested permission to use Richardson's instruction sheets "Let's Learn to Tat" across the U.S.A. where she will receive $150.00 per day to teach tatting through Smokey's Guild of America. Flattered, Richardson granted permission.

Prized Articles

Frequently there have been articles in local papers on Richardson's tatting interests. She prizes these articles greatly. "Three Generations Tat" tells that Richardson, her mother and niece were the first family of three generations to do any craft at Lang Century Village, yet these three were doing the unique craft of tatting.

"Teacher Finally Learns to Tat Like Mother" was a June 25th, 1983 article in the Toronto Star by craft columnist, Ankaret Dean. This article reinforced her idea that tatting is a dying art. It inspired her to give tatted souvenirs when she travelled around the world in 1983. As she gave souvenirs, she kept account of the knowledge of tatting in eighteen countries. This information was used in a story, "Warkworth Resident Tats Around The World - Teaches Crafts Lessons With Gestures, Smiles." (Sometimes there was no common language).

"Ten-Week Tatting Course at Loyalist College" had statements about each of the ten students. It spoke of Helen Francis, a novice who remembered with intrigue her mother's tatting. She became an experienced tatter who had

Margaret Laurence

Novelist's death 'a loss to Canadians,' says Munro

The death of Margaret Laurence is a great loss to Canada's cultural community, Minister of Citizenship and Culture Lily Munro said Jan. 6th.

Although she was best known as a novelist, her work enriched many people across Canada and around the world through film, television and stage adaptations, she said.

"Margaret Laurence's writing consistently revealed her wide-ranging talent, embracing the many facets of the human condition from exuberance and joy to compassion.

"Her finely-crafted characters, especially the heroines of her Manawaka series of novels, broke new ground in Canadian literature. She was one of Canada's first novelists to write about women in such a detailed, wise and compelling manner."

Though born in Manitoba, Margaret Laurence settled in Lakefield, Ont., where she died Monday. "We in Ontario, whether we were fortunate enough to hear her read publicly or had the privilege of meeting her personally, benefited from how generous she was with her time, spirit and talent," Mrs. Munro said.

"Indeed, we are lucky she has left us a rich legacy of keenly-observed Canadian life and imagination through films such as Rachel, Rachel and The Olden Days Coat, plays such as The Women Of Margaret Laurence and her novels. She will be missed."

in the Belleville library tattooing display the following: a doily in course thread, a doily in fine thread and two snowflakes for Christmas trees.

"Letter of Loyalty to Queen Elizabeth" told of the 1984 family letter (Hubbell family) expressing loyalty to Queen Elizabeth. The italic calligraphy was enhanced with tattooed flowers.

"Leaving A Craft In Labrador" was written following her week's Elderhostel experience in Labrador in July 1985. When an accomplished craft person, Miriam Lyall of Goose Bay received a thank you card with tattooed flowers for her craft demonstration she immediately inquired and had Richardson's instructions.

From the Anglican "Crafts Develop New Friendships for Tatter" (1984) told of the reaction of most of the twenty international ladies who received a package of Richardson's stationery. Una of Guyana, South America stated, "It was such a pleasure to meet you after reading the most fascinating article of your travels and how many contacts you made through your tattooing. Thank you so much for the writing paper so artistically decorated with your work. It looks almost too beautiful to use, but I'm sure you will want me to share it with someone I love. Our Toronto visit was most welcome and enjoyable because of the friendliness and generosity of the women of your country. I will treasure happiest memories of my story. Warm Christian Love".

Future Activities
As well as teaching in February, Richardson sees other ways of keeping the tattooing art alive. She intends to encourage students to do tattooing for miniature furniture. It would be a way of preserving the art with miniature articles.

In 1986, Aureen Richardson took a workshop course with T.V. Ontario. She has written to them offering available information, re: tattooing, that could be put on an educational video tape for which T.V. Ontario are most known.

Natural living caffeine freedom

If you're a regular coffee or tea drinker, but don't consider yourself addicted, why not try this experiment? For just one day, cut out everything that contains caffeine. That means you will have to avoid regular tea and coffee, cola drinks, cocoa, and chocolate bars. And remember, the day starts as soon as you wake up, not after the first cup of coffee!

Chances are, you will feel some withdrawal symptoms. These can range from a mild feeling of lethargy to a throbbing, persistent headache, depending on the amount of caffeine you usually consume and your body's sensitivity to it's effects.

One cup of regular coffee contains about 100 mg. of caffeine. (This compares to an average 40 mg in a cup of tea or cola, and 25 mg in a small chocolate bar.)

Pure caffeine is a white, powdery substance. In chemical structure it closely resembles adenosine, a natural inhibitor of nerve signals. Because of their chemical similarity, caffeine can take adenosine's place on nerve cell surfaces. With the regulating effect of adenosine blocked, nerve cells fire more rapidly, producing that jangly, restless feeling so familiar to coffee drinkers.

Long term use of caffeine has been related to problems with blood pressure, heart

Fur on the inside for warmth, outside for status

Although that new fur coat you got for Christmas will help ward off winter's chill, it will actually keep you warmer if you wear it inside out, says University of Guelph Consumer Studies professor Keith Slater. Virtually all clothing marketed in Canada is designed for style, with little scientific testing done to rate it for warmth, he says, so if you're wearing the fur on the outside, you're wearing it for status. Inside out, the fur would provide excellent insulation from cold air and the outer layer of tough leather would keep the wind out.

Despite all the claims made by manufacturers of snowsuits and ski wear, says Slater, the best outfit for sub-zero temperatures is really a system of layered clothing. The object is to keep cold air and wind out, while letting moisture vapor escape. For extensive outdoor activities, he recommends wearing underwear and a shirt made from a fabric that will absorb perspiration away from the body. If you perspire and allow your clothing to get wet, heat loss increases.

The second layer should be airy because air is the best possible insulation. "The fibre content of the garment doesn't make it a good insulator, the air it entraps does," he says, so you should wear a middle layer of clothing with a loose weave containing a number of tiny holes to trap air. On the outside, wear a fabric that is tightly woven to prevent a blast of air from entering. Slater advises shoppers to be careful when buying vinyl and rubber-coated fabrics that stop air and water completely. They will also prevent perspiration from evaporating. Such water-proof garments should be designed with adequate ventilation at neck and ankle openings to allow water vapor out. Before buying, check the garment for gaping seams or design traps that would allow rain water and melting snow to run in rather than out.

Color plays a minor role in heat retention, although many people still believe that darker colors absorb more heat, says Slater. An extra slice of toast in the morning will probably provide more heat energy than wearing a dark-colored ski suit.

Although there is no perfect cold weather garment, with a little bit of common sense and a keen shopper's eye, you can be both warm and well-dressed this winter, he says. Look for garments that offer the best of these features, or as a last resort, buy from a known manufacturer so you can return the garment if it proves unsatisfactory.

Forage analysis is important

This summer's rainy weather created a lot of problems for hay producers. Forages are much poorer in quality this year than they normally would be. Forage analysis for protein, energy and minerals is always important for ration balancing, for limiting purchased feed costs and for maximizing animal performance, but this year, when hay quality is very questionable, forage analysis is especially important.

Forage analysis and ration balancing are important for cost control. Take for example, a dairy producer feeding an 18 per cent grain mix to his herd of 40 cows. Upon balancing his ration, he finds that he only needs a 16 per cent grain mix. If this ration were half corn, and half barley and supplemented with 44 per cent soybean meal (at $14.00 for 40 kg) the difference in the cost of grain mix would be $19.00 per tonne. If he feeds two tonnes of grain mix per cow per year, the total cost difference would be over $1500.00 minus the cost of forage analysis and ration balancing. In cases where an increase in supplementation is recommended, improved animal performance will result. For a beef cow calf operator, this improved performance could be the difference between being able to breed beef heifers at age 16 months versus a year later when one year's calf crop has been lost.

MEMORIALS

AYLESWORTH - In loving memory of a dear husband Garfield Aylesworth who passed away January 10, 1987.

I have lost a dear husband.

A life linked with my own.
And day by day I miss you more.

As I walk through life alone,
The life was great, the chuckles sweet.

I little thought the end was so swift.

It's only those who've lost an angel.

The sorrow of parting with out farewell
In the lonely hours of thinking.

Thoughts of you are always near.

I still loved you, sadly miss you.

As it dawns another year
Some may think I have forgotten.

When at times they see me smile.

But they little know the heartaches.

That smiles hide all the while.

Lovingly remembered by wife Jean.

AYLESWORTH - In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Garfield Gray who passed away January 10, 1987.

A heart of gold stopped beating.

Two working hands are at rest.

God broke our hearts to prove to us.

He only takes the best.
Lovingly remembered by
Harry, Judy and Lynne.

CHAPPELL - In loving memory of our dad, Thomas W. who passed away January 13, 1968, and mom,
Florence, July 5, 1978.
We do not need a special day.

To bring them to our minds;
For the days we do not think of them.
Are very hard to find.
Lovingly remembered by their family and grandchildren.

MEMORIALS

SEARLES - In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Lorraine Searles, who passed away January 18, 1977.
From our happy home and circle,
God has taken one we love;
Borne away from sin and sorrow,
To a better home above.
Ever remembered by husband Garnet, and sons, Lance and Todd.

SARLES - In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, George Richard Sarles, who passed away January 16, 1986.
Though his smile is gone forever,
And his hand we cannot touch,
Still we have so many memories.
Of the one we loved so much.

His memory is our keepsake.
With which we'll never part;
God has him in his keeping.
We have him in our hearts.
Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by his wife, Helen, daughter, Barbara, son-in-law, Jack, granddaughter Linda and her husband Russell.

While a switch to decaffeinated coffee may help you avoid some of these problems, other harmful effects have been attributed to the chemicals used to extract the caffeine from coffee beans. Health food stores carry a wide selection of naturally caffeine-free herbal teas and coffee alternatives.

4H Leaders Seminar

Last week, a group of dedicated ladies spent a day going through a program that they will administer to young people over the next few months.

They are the 4H leaders who spend countless hours guiding their club members through various projects. Projects that cover a wide range of topics that cover everyday living.

The project that they will be undertaking is entitled "Surviving with style." The introduction to the program says, "Looking after ourselves - that's a big part of what growing up is all about. It's the adventure of a lifetime - choosing our own lifestyle and taking responsibility for ourselves."

The basic objective of the project is to enable the 4H members to learn skills necessary to being a contributing member of a family or a well informed person living on their own. Additionally, members are encouraged to work together happily and productively with fellow members and leaders.

Surviving with Style comprises of six meetings - On being Independent, Feeding yourself well, The choice is Yours!, Clothing fix fest, Keeping it in order, and Getting around - all of which is covered in a comprehensive 47 page manual.

The manual not only gives information on a variety of topics but is also designed with built in questions and mini projects that will cause the 4H'er to think and do. In fact, this little manual could probably find a useful niche in many homes.

Membership in a 4H club can be, not only rewarding, but quite valuable in developing life and social skills that will enhance the quality of life styles as it's members go out into the world. The projects developed through this program are drawn from experiences throughout a much larger community than a village or family circle, and thus can present new ideas or perspectives.

Valerie Clarke, Rural Organization Specialist with the Ministry of Agriculture and Food based in Stirling, says, "We welcome new members with open arms. In fact we'd like to see more and more young people taking advantage of this opportunity."

Block Parents

Second Anniversary

The Block Parent Program in Madoc celebrates its second anniversary this month, and in recognition of this milestone a "get-together" is planned for January 29th at the Madoc Public School gym.

Councillor John Hall says "It's just an informal gathering. No business meeting or anything like that. There will be a couple of films and we'll be there to answer questions and chat in general about the program."

Everybody is welcome to attend this event (which gets underway at 7:30 p.m.) whether or not they are Block Parents.

John Hall says "We welcome new Block Parents. It's important to the safety of our children that we have a strong organization in the village."

Block Parents are private citizens: they are volunteers who have agreed to act as responsible adults in emergencies involving the children of their community.

More and more, children are being made aware of the potential dangers involved in engaging in conversation with a stranger, or going for a ride with someone other than a family member. They are taught to say no, and go home and tell their parents. If Mom or Dad is not at home, and the child needs help, a Block Parent can be a safe haven for that child.

Children are taught that houses displaying the Block Parent sign can be approached in safety, as Block Parents are people who have had their backgrounds checked and approved by the Block Parent Committee and the Police.

Block Parent's responsibilities are extremely simple - provide the child with a safe environment and phone the police with a description of the incident. That's it. There's no deep involvement. Simply phone the police and let the professionals take care of it.

Cooper Carnival

Circle the dates Jan. 29 to Feb. 1 on your calendar for a whole pile of down home country fun.

Something for everyone is the name of the game at the Cooper Carnival starting with Bingo at 6 p.m. on the 29th to the snowmobile poker run on Sunday.

On Friday there's a roast beef supper at the Cooper Community Centre followed by a big dance at the Kiwanis Centre in Madoc.

Saturday is packed with events. Starting with a cross country ski poker run, followed by a 22 cal. shooting match and at-noon a whole raft of fun things are planned. There will be lunch available, games, tug-o-war, puppet show, bale throwing, sleigh rides and more.

In the evening there's the Cooper Showtime '87. Two shows are scheduled, one at 7 p.m. and one at 9 p.m. The popularity of this show and space limitations at the hall forces the two performances.

On Sunday the 1st of February, the day starts off with a pancake and maple syrup breakfast from 8-11 a.m. and the carnival winds up with a snowmobile poker run.

Glen Locke and Chief Roger Snider were out flooding the outdoor rink last Saturday. Dave Generaux, operating the hydrant, smiled a lot as Glen and Roger skidded across the wet ice trying to control the hose under full pressure.

Eldorado's New Auctioneer

Gerald Young

Auctioneer Gerald Young has hung out his shingle at the Eldorado schoolhouse which he has converted into a residence.

Gerald hails originally from Harrowsmith and spent his working life in Kingston and Toronto. "However," says Gerald, "once a country boy always a country boy and it was always in my mind that I'd get out of the city and back to a small community."

He's planning on running regular auctions in Madoc, starting in February and will be making an announcement as soon as arrangements are completed.

Michael Day looks away in disbelief at the figure on the scales as he weighed in for the Tub Club fund raiser. Richard Matchett and Shirley Holmes were on hand last Saturday as the program got under way. For those of you who could not meet the weigh-in deadline but want to participate, simply weigh yourself on an accurate scale and register your weight at Kramp's Sports Store.

Christian Youth Crusaders

The week of January 19th to the 25th is the Christian Youth Crusaders (C.Y.C.) week which has a basic theme of "We Love Our Community".

The C.Y.C. operating out of the Wesleyan and Free Methodist Church has between 25 and 30 members in its group and holds regular meetings on Tuesday afternoons.

During their "We Love Our Community Week" the young members will be undertaking a collection of food items to be donated to the Madoc Helping Hands for distribution to those in need.

They will have a special guest from the O.P.P. at their Tuesday meeting and on Wednesday the group will be touring the Madoc Fire Hall. Saturday is planned as a fun day with a sleigh riding party, topped off with weiners and hot chocolate.

On Sunday there is a meeting scheduled at 7 p.m. at the church at which a special film will be shown and the children of C.Y.C. receive awards.

A warm welcome is extended.

By LeeAnne Cole

OC. As first semester to a close this year, the has come once again for late night study sessions. ms began on Thursday, 5, and last through until Jan. 23. Monday, the 26 s month is turn-around n preparation of the new s about to start, and on day, Jan. 27, second ter officially begins.

During exam week, each day students will be writing at 9:00, 11:15, and 1:15. Most exams are 1 1/2 hours long, but some of the senior exams last for two hours.

Some students were asked for their opinions on these end of semester tests which account for 1/3 of the total credit. Some of their replies are as follows, "Exams are fairly necessary because if you went through high school without writing any exams, when you went to University or College, you'd find it too difficult. "Exams shouldn't reflect as much as they do of our mark." "Not knowing what to expect can make people nervous," states one grade nine student.

Teachers had somewhat different opinions. "If a student really does understand the concepts of the course, works hard all year, and does the necessary review to retain what they've learned, then exams shouldn't be a worry to any student." "Exams give students the incentive to work."

Despite the views that may differ on this topic, exams are still a compulsory component of many courses. They must be written and in many ways, they are preparatory steps for further educations. This is a very important factor in many student's lives. Good luck to all those who write exams this semester.

PROPERTY ASSESSMENT

and your 1987 Municipal and School Taxes

Regional Assessment Offices located throughout Ontario are responsible for assessing all real property for the purposes of municipal and school taxation.

The resulting Assessment Rolls are delivered to municipalities which use them to set their mill rates and compute municipal property tax bills.

The amount of property tax you pay on your home or business depends on the assessed value and the mill rate set by your municipality. The assessed value multiplied by the mill rate will determine your 1987 property taxes.

Open House Sessions

Open Houses are your opportunity to fully understand your assessment and to evaluate its equity.

Open Houses are held in every municipality at convenient times and locations to provide you with the opportunity to discuss your assessment with staff of the Regional Office.

An assessor will be pleased to explain the basis of your property assessment and is authorized to amend any inaccurate information prior to the delivery of the Assessment Roll to your municipality.

If you have any questions but are unable to attend the Open House, please contact your Regional Assessment Office at the address or telephone number shown below.

Assessment Notice

Property owners and tenants will receive an Assessment Notice only if information relating to their property or assessment was changed during the past year, if the assessment was appealed last year, or if there has been a general reassessment in the municipality. If you receive an Assessment Notice, it may reflect changes you have requested in your school support designation, in the amount of your assessed value, or other recorded information on last year's Notice.

Appeal Procedure

If, after attending your local Open House, you are still dissatisfied with your assessment, you have the right to appeal it to the Assessment Review Board. The Assessment Review Board conducts informal hearings and is responsible for determining whether the assessment under appeal is fair and equitable with the assessments of similar properties in the vicinity or neighbourhood, and may alter your assessment accordingly.

Appeal Deadline

The final date for appealing your assessment is February 26, 1987.

Your appeal must be forwarded, either on a Notice of Appeal Form or as a letter, to the Regional Registrar of the Assessment Review Board on or before February 26, 1987, noting your property address, roll number and the reason for the appeal.

To assist you, Notice of Appeal forms and the address of the Regional Registrar of the Assessment Review Board are available at Open Houses, your Regional Assessment Office, or your municipal office.

FARM MANAGEMENT THUMB RULES

For many farmers 1986 will be remembered as a difficult year to make a profit. As we enter 1987, prospects in many areas of the farm community do not look very promising. The result is that many farmers, particularly those farming 10 years or less with a heavy debt load, will be reassessing their business within the next few months.

With little control over markets, improved profit can only be brought about by increased production or more efficient production. Gross income is not easily increased if there are marketing limitations through quotas, etc., or if there are restrictions on capital, labour or land.

Also gross income does not necessarily mean more profit depending on the efficiency. As a guide, the 1985 Ontario Farm Management Analysis gives some average figures for various farm types.

The average dairy operation in this summary of 340 dairy farms recorded a gross farm revenue of $166,835. The 45 beef feedlot operations included in the summary grossed $483,000 on the average, while the beef cow/calf operations only grossed approximately $44,000, and the average farrow to finish operations slightly over $270,000.

Net income is, of course, determined by the efficiency of the operation and this varies from farm to farm and from farm type to farm type. One measure of efficiency is cost control, determined by dividing net farm income by gross farm income on a percentage basis.

The higher the per cent, the more efficient the operation.

Average cost control figures for dairy farmers in the 1985 summary was 17% although the top third averaged 28%.

For the beef feedlot operations, the cost control index was much smaller at 3.9% on the average with the top third at 6.25%. For beef cow operations this figure varied from 4.4% on the average to a high of 19%, while farrow to finish operations ranged from 14 to 24%.

For many producers, efficiency may best be understood by relating it to the cost of producing one dollar's worth of goods. For the average dairy operation, this would be about 70 cents for each dollar of production. The more efficient third of the group recorded costs of 60 cents for one dollar of production.

Interest charges are one of the main factors in production costs these days and when interest costs were not considered, other costs on the average run around 54 cents for each dollar of production on the average dairy operation in the 85 study.

Beef feedlot operations tended to have somewhat higher costs at 78 cents for each one dollar of production and this, again, was reduced to around 60 cents when interest was not included.

There are many other thumb rules to assist in analyzing a farm business. For dairymen, milk sales per cow is one indicator. These averaged about $2,800 per cow in 1985 with the top third exceeding $3,000.

On the cost side purchased feed per cow averaged around $375, with slightly less for the top group.

Other expenses - vet, breeding, trucking, etc. - were in the $500 range for both groups.

Cost of borrowed money is a critical factor in many operations. For dairymen interest costs per mature animal averaged about $517. Debt load per head ranged from 0 to around $9,000 averaging approximately $5,000.

There are many other indicators available from the summary which could be used to guide farmers in their business decisions including costs for growing various crops, machinery investment, debt repayment capacity, etc.

Farmers can submit their own records for the Management Analysis at no cost. These records will be used in the group average with each individual receiving a summary of their own operation. For further information contact the various OMAF offices.

BEEF PRODUCER COURSE

The second of a series of courses for beef producers will be held Monday, Jan. 26th, at the Percy Township Hall in Warkworth. Subsequent courses will be held each Monday evening at the Warkworth Hall except for the evening of February 9th, when the group will take part in Quite Beef Night at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Trenton.

Subjects for discussion will be Pasture Management, Nutrition, Marketing and Financial Management. The course, sponsored by the Northumberland Beef Improvement Committee and OMAF is open to all beef producers. Beef producers are urged to get out and take part in the course discussion and exchange ideas with neighbors and experts in the field of beef management.

Gypsy Moth

The Ministry of Natural Resources recommended action for the protection of crown forest against the gypsy moth will be available for public review starting January 6, 1987.

"Maps locating recommended crown forest treatment areas will be available in local ministry offices for a 30-day review period," said Denis Gypsy Moth Program Co-ordinator for southern Ontario. The ministry offices include Lindsay, Bancroft, Dacre, Tweed, Napanee, Brockville and Carleton Place.

An estimated 35,000 hectares of high value crown forests across eastern Ontario are proposed for aerial spraying with the biological insecticide Bacillus thuringiensis, or Bt.

At a series of information days planned for eastern Ontario, MNR staff will be on hand to discuss the recommended option and to provide information about the gypsy moth problem.

The information days will be held from 2 p.m. - 8 p.m. at the following locations: On January 26, 1987, at the MNR offices in Brockville and Dacre, on February 2, 1987, at the Carleton Place MNR office, and on February 4, 1987, at the Township Hall in Cloyne.

The gypsy moth has spread rapidly in eastern Ontario since 1981. Despite a local decline in tree defoliation last summer north of Kingston, the area affected by the gypsy moth has continued to spread into new parts of eastern Ontario.

Disarmament Message

Between September 21, 1986, and May of 1987, four Montreal students, all between 16 and 18 years of age, have put their studies aside for a year and have been travelling across the country on an eight-month high school speaking tour known as the Youth Nuclear Disarmament Tour.

The four participants/organizers of the project are all members of a Montreal based student disarmament group called SAGE (Students Against Global Extermination Solidarite Anit-Guerre Etudiante) - a non-profit project entirely run by and for youths averaging 16 years of age.

The students will arrive, two driving from Markham, the other two flying into Peterborough to a reception conference January 21, at 277 William Street, at 8 p.m., to deliver their message that "Young people have a vital role to play in the nuclear arms race: not only as future leaders but as potential victims."

Their stay will be short in Belleville but very busy. January 22, they will be the guests on CJBQ open-line morning show; then they are to visit Belleville City Hall, and after that they will split into two groups of two to visit local schools. They leave Belleville to spend the night in Toronto and begin a new day in a new city.

As members of SAGE, these young people have become skilled public speakers and very informed, having done dozens of presentations in high schools as well as many major conferences.

SAGE's success has led to this year's Youth Nuclear Disarmament Tour. The Tour will reach about one in every 15 high school students in the country, in over 350 high schools, 50 communities, in all ten provinces and in both official languages. The aim is to encourage dialogue, information, but most of all HOPE in the face of today's mounting nuclear arms race. The four participants will be billeted.

It is hoped that this ambitious undertaking will not only motivate other youths, but will inspire adults and leaders to learn that they must "Love their children more than they hate their enemies."

Non-profit organization funding

Project Receives $130,020

Peterborough MP Bill Domm announced recently that a local non-profit organization, Scott's Plain Recycling Inc. will receive $130,010 to sponsor a project funded by the federal government's Canadian Jobs Strategy.

The project, operated under the CJS's Job Development Program, will provide a total of 40 ex-offenders with an average of 16 weeks of training and work experience they need to make a successful transition back into society and the local work force.

Upon completion of the project, which will have a staggered in-take of trainees, participants will be able to either find jobs or be referred to additional skills training or academic upgrading programs.

The announcement was made on behalf of Employment and Immigration Minister Benoit Bouchard.

Working out of Scott's 280 Perry Street facilities, trainees will learn the various functions associated with the day-to-day operations of a major recycling enterprise. This includes such duties as truck driving, warehouse equipment operations, record keeping and supervisory responsibilities.

As well, participants will also take part in various work orientation and life skills seminars and workshops. Counselling staff will also be available to assist participants with any social, personal or employment problems they encounter.

"Community groups such as Scott's Plain Recycling Inc. should be applauded for their on-going efforts to help ex-offenders acquire the skills and support they need to resume productive lives," Mr. Domm said. "I am pleased to see my government's continued involvement with this worthy initiative."

Job Development is one of six thrusts that together make up Employment and Immigration Canada's new Canadian Jobs Strategy announced by the federal government in June, 1985. Job Development's focus is on improving the long-term employment prospects of the long-term unemployed through a combination of on-the-job and classroom training lasting up to 32 weeks.

The passing of Bill 133 by the Ontario Legislature would set a world precedent for Ontario: Bill 133, which calls for an ingredient labelling law for wines, beers and spirits, has already been passed unanimously in the second reading of the Legislature. Similar legislation is being considered in other jurisdictions around the world, but has not yet been made law.

Alcohol and Drug Concerns, Inc. is calling for Premier David Peterson and his government to bring Bill 133 forward for its third and final reading. Nineteen other sympathetic organizations in Ontario are expected to follow this lead.

When passed, Bill 133 will require all manufacturers of alcoholic beverages to list the ingredients used in producing their products, thus meeting the needs of the many citizens who suffer from specific allergies and/or those concerned about the ingestion of additives which could be carcinogenic or detrimental to health in any way.

Alcohol and Drug Concerns, Inc. has also been lobbying with the Federal Government on this same issue. In February, 1986, a brief was presented to the Hon. Jake Epp, Minister of Health and Welfare, recommending that the regulations of the Food and Drug Act be amended to provide for the mandatory labelling of the ingredients in alcoholic beverages.

A presentation was also made to the standing committee of the Consumers and Corporate Affairs in company with the Consumer Aid Services Organization of Shawinigan, Quebec (which represents 120 sympathetic national and provincial groups).

Alcohol and Drug Concerns, Inc. is an independent community agency funded by voluntary donations from thousands of citizens as well as churches, service clubs, industry and commerce. The organization's Charter, provincial since 1934, will become national in 1987. The principal activity is preventive education.

Hastings dairy Cost Study

by Dave Little Agricultural Representative
Hastings County

Back in the 70s, when Farm Credit Corporation was lending at 8-10% interest, and land values were jumping 18-20%, farm financing was based on the rising value of farmland. Lenders couldn't lose. Their security in land was increasing in value twice as much as the rate of interest.

It didn't take much to stay in farming during those years. Because if operating expenses overshot income, the lender simply packaged the shortfall into a term loan and used the farmer's rising net worth in farmland as security. I saw it happen countless times.

So it made good sense to expand in the 70s. More acres. Bigger yields. More efficient equipment. Automated livestock and crop facilities. The 'bigger is better' philosophy flourished. For some farmers, growth of profit was not considered to be a necessary part of business growth.

All would have been well if everything hadn't made a 180 degree turn at the start of the '80s.

Now FCC financing is at 12%. And land values continue to fall. So today's farmer really has to make something like 15% on his borrowed money just to keep his net worth in land from slipping. No more equity financing if the business 'cash flow' is questionable.

I'm busy right now gathering farm record information for the 1986 Hastings Dairy Cost Study. I'm still seeing farmers who are farming '1970's style'...spending more than they're earning, making capital losses.

Letter to Editor

The following letter was sent to M.P. Jack Ellis.

October 22, 1986
Dear Mr. Ellis,
In response to your letter of Oct. 2, 1986. You stated that the NATO Alliance has noted with concern recent advances by the Soviet Union in ballistic missile defence research.

I would like you to reconcile that information with the following. Mr. Reagan insists that he needs to continue his nuclear testing because it is an integral part of S.D.I. research.

The Soviets have had a unilateral test ban in effect for some fifteen months now. How can they possibly be in such hot pursuit of their own S.D.I. program without the crucial tests?

I have taken the liberty of forwarding a copy of your letter to the U.N., the N.D.P. party, the Liberal party and the Kremlin. Hopefully someone can explain this discrepancy to me. I would appreciate a response at your earliest possible convenience.

Thank you,
Janice R. Brown
R.R. 1, Thomasburg,
Ont. K0K 3H9

Below is Mr. Ellis' reply:

Dear Mrs. Brown:
Thank you for your most recent letter. It is my clear understanding that just prior to accepting a self-imposed test ban, the Russians carried out a long series of nuclear tests. They may well not need to do any further testing for some time. I frankly don't know.

In any event, the key word in

S.D.I. is "Defence". The defence of North America, which is where I live, pleases me that someone is concerned with my defence.

If you asked a number of Hungarians, Czechoslovaks, Afghans, East Germans, Lithuanians, etc., etc., living in Canada, you would find that they would be equally happy that there is someone looking after their defence.

Yours sincerely,
J.R. Ellis, M.P.

Proper use of Medication

By Barry Phillips, B.Sc. Phm.
Past President, Ontario College of Pharmacists
Community Pharmacist

A well-known advice columnist was faced with one woman's plea for help.

"My husband insists on keeping left-over medicines in his dresser drawer. Where he leaves them doesn't bother me as much as his reason for saving them. He says he keeps the leftovers, especially antibiotics, to use the next time he gets sick. I'm worried about this. What should I do?"

The advice given was well worth repeating. Simply destroy all old medications. In the case of antibiotics, make sure they are used to the end of the prescription. This way, you'll be sure they've finished their job and there won't be any left over.

There are more than a few good reasons for not keeping medication. Most of all, it's dangerous where there might be children to accidentally take it. As time goes by, medication loses its effectiveness. Most of us have noticed ASA products which yellow and develop a vinegary odour with age.

Your doctor prescribes the amount of antibiotic he or she feels to be correct and expects it all to be used. Although they often make the patient feel better quickly, their use should be continued to prevent any flare-ups.

Extra care should be taken with children. They may refuse to take any more antibiotics if early doses show quick results. If the medication is stopped before the prescribed amount is taken, the infection may return with more serious consequences than the first time.

Your doctor and pharmacist can tell you how and for how long to take any prescription medication. But the responsibility for properly handling medicines, getting rid of old medication and using all of the antibiotics prescribed rests with you.

Keeping Warm in Winter

by Ron Reid

On these cold winter mornings, as you shiver through the daily ritual of scraping the frost off your car, it's easy to wonder how anything could survive our Canadian winters. That same thought prompted researchers at Cornell University to look more closely at the Black-capped Chickadee, one of our most common winter birds, to find out how it copes with the extremes of a harsh winter.

Small birds lose heat more quickly than larger animals, especially at colder temperatures or in the wind. On average, chickadees weigh less than half an ounce, or about the same as the combined weight of four pennies. Even though their down insulation and their protective overcoat of feathers greatly reduces heat loss, chickadees must have a diet rich in energy to maintain their body heat.

But unlike other winter birds, the chickadee can turn down the thermostat to conserve heat. During the day, a chickadee's body temperature is about 106 deg. F (42 deg. C). But at night, this body temperature was found to drop by as much as twenty Fahrenheit degrees, causing heart-beat and breathing to become slower. In this controlled state of hypothermia, the rate of heat loss and demand for energy is considerably reduced.

Chickadees also choose night roosting spots within a tree cavity or nest hole, or in dense evergreens to provide shelter from the elements. Through these mechanisms, the reserves of energy rich fat accumulated the previous day can carry the bird through the night, with a small surplus left to fuel the morning search for food.

Despite these adaptations, as many as seven of every ten young chickadees will not survive the winter. But in the early spring, when the woods ring with the "fee-bee" calls of male chickadees proclaiming their territory, pairs will be formed once again and nest cavities in dead stubs excavated. From a single pair, as many as 12 to 16 young are produced each year, usually from two broods. That surplus allows the population to successfully carry on.

The chickadee has been suggested as a prime candidate for Ontario's official bird, always cheerful, industrious and handsome. And most appropriately, it stays to endure our Canadian winters with the rest of us.

Acid Rain Progress Reports

On the first anniversary of the Countdown Acid Rain announcement recently, the Ontario Ministry of the Environment released its review of the initial progress reports submitted by Ontario's four major sulphur dioxide emitters.

The review concludes that the four corporations, which are the source of 80% of the acid gas pollution produced in the province, are complying with the requirements of their abatement regulations.

Under the program, the corporations must reduce their sulphur dioxide emissions by 67% in stages between 1986 and 1994. Inco Ltd. and Falconbridge Ltd. in Sudbury, and the Algoma Steel Corporation in Wawa are required to submit technical progress reports every six months. Ontario Hydro must provide quarterly emission reports.

The report shows that Inco is concentrating much of its research on increasing the amount of sulphur rejected from the crushed ore before it enters the smelter. Testing of a bulk smelting technique is scheduled for the summer of 1987, just prior to a planned shutdown.

"In order to ensure that its immediate production goals are not placed ahead of required testing, my ministry is asking that Inco establish more specific research and testing timetables, independent of production schedules. I am also concerned that Inco may be placing all its abatement eggs in one basket, with no contingency plans should the tests not be fully successful," Environment Minister Jim Bradley said.

Like Inco, Falconbridge is working on ways to increase the rejection of sulphur before smelting the nickel ore. The ministry is pleased with the company's focus on abatement technology research, but would like more information on the reductions to be expected from each process.

Algoma Steel at Wawa is already well below the 1994 limits because of lack of markets for its ore. Nevertheless, the ministry is asking that contingency plans for abatement be included in future reports, in the event that the sintering plant returns to full production.

It achieved this result through the use of more low-sulphur and washed coal, the installation of low-nitrogen oxide burners at three coal-burning plants, and its nuclear component.

Future abatement plans include retrofitting some plants with equipment to take more sulphur out of flue gases.

"I would like to see other abatement options discussed in future Ontario Hydro reports. These should include ways of encouraging users to consume less electricity - that is, conservation, the use of alternatives to coal such as natural gas, and importing power from our neighbouring provinces which are blessed with an abundance of clean hydro-electricity," Mr. Bradley said.

The Ministry of the Environment technical staff will meet with company representatives to discuss the recommendations and concerns outlined in the review.

Under the Countdown Acid Rain program, announced December 17, 1985, province-wide emissions of sulphur dioxide will be cut to 885 kilotonnes per year by 1994, compared with the 1980 base level of 2,194 kilotonnes.

About 50 per cent of the acid precipitation falling in Ontario comes from the United States.

"We hope that this review might be of interest to the major sulphur dioxide emitters in the United States," Mr. Bradley said. "The technical progress reports show that Ontario's regulations are tough but fair, and that industry is responding in a positive manner. Similar pollution cuts are achievable - and necessary - in the United States."

Copies of the report, as well as the individual technical reports on file, are available from the Ministry of the Environment at (416) 323-4321.

Maximum Rental Increase

The rent review guideline for 1987 has been set at 5.2 per cent by the Ministry of Housing.

The 5.2 per cent guideline is the amount by which a landlord can increase the maximum rent for a rental unit next year without applying for approval to rent review.

The Residential Rent Regulation Act, passed by the legislature this month, created an entirely new system of rent review for Ontario, designed to increase protection for tenants and to encourage the construction of new rental housing.

Under the new Act, a flexible guideline was established and rent review was extended to cover all private rental units in the province.

Other major features of the legislation included the creation of a Rent Registry, a streamlined rent review process and a standards board to ensure proper building maintenance.

In the past, the rent review guideline was a fixed percentage which applied only to units in buildings constructed prior to 1976, while units which were first occupied after that date were exempt from rent review.

Under the new Act, the guideline will be adjusted annually to respond to changes in economic condition, and applied to all rental units in the province.

The guideline is designed to reflect changes in inflation and to promote proper building maintenance for tenants.

The Ministry of Housing will calculate the guideline using a formula based mainly on components of the Consumer Price Index and other economic indicators.

In future, the Ministry of Housing will announce by August 31 the guideline for the upcoming year.

Reducing the Risk of Osteoporosis

By Nigel Bunce and Jim Hunt
College of Physical Science
University of Guelph
Osteoporosis, primarily a disease of post-menopausal women, has attracted much attention lately. The condition involves a steady and irreversible loss of calcium from the bones that makes them increasingly fragile and slower to heal when broken. Extreme cases can lead to complete debility of the skeletal system.

In 1984 a committee of the National Institutes of Health in the United States recommended that everyone should consume one gram of calcium each day, the equivalent of three glasses of milk, except for post-menopausal women who should take in 1.5 grams a day. The latter recommendation, suggesting that increased calcium intake will retard osteoporosis, has led to a boom in the sales of calcium supplements. These will amount to almost $200 million in North America this year.

A recent article in "Science" reviews recent evidence in this important area and concludes that the rush to calcium supplements may be premature. Researchers at the Mayo Clinic in the United States and Golstrup Hospital in Denmark have carried out studies that fail to show any correlation between calcium intake and bone intensity. The U.S. study involved over 100 women of ages from 23 to 88 years' who had a steady dietary calcium intake between one-third and two grams each day. They were studied for over four years and no correlations between intake and bone density could be found.

The two year controlled Danish study looked at the relative effects of calcium, estrogen and a placebo on immediately post-menopausal women. The results with calcium and the placebo were indistinguishable and only the estrogen showed any significant effect in reducing bone loss.

These results are consistent with population studies that demonstrate groups with higher calcium intake do not have denser bones than those with less intake when account is taken of sex and body mass differences.

Some medical researchers oppose calcium supplements on the ground that they may, in fact, be harmful. There is the possibility that users might get their calcium only from supplements and as a result miss the other positive nutritional benefits of milk, cheese and yogurt. It is, after all, very easy to get one gram of calcium a day through diet. There is also the possibility that high calcium intake can lead to kidney stones in some people and that calcium supplements may cut off vitamin D necessary for the cellular function of the bones.

There are things that people can do to reduce the risk of osteoporosis. Studies show that weight-bearing exercises can slow bone loss. In addition, the risk of osteoporosis is doubled by smoking and drinking as much as two alcoholic drinks a day. After these recent studies,

PHILLIPS MAKES IT 10

Brian Phillips continues his pace of placing the puck behind the opposition as he recorded his 10th hat trick over the weekend. In exhibition action against Wellington, he scored four times with single goals going to Sean Smith and Jose McNeil. Matt McCann, Sean Smith and John Brownson added assists.

Then, on Sunday, the Novices travelled to Bancroft for a tournament. Their opening game resulted in a 5-1 victory over Frankford. This actually counted as a double victory as it was also recorded as a league game.

After Frankford scored, it was five unanswered goals for Madoc. Brian Phillips scored three with Mike Blackburn and Jose McNeil adding singles. Adding assists were Mike Blackburn, Steve Landon, Jose McNeil, Chris Perrie and Keith Miller.

The second game saw the locals drop a close 4-3 decision to Oakwood. Oakwood later won the tournament as 'A' Champions. Mike Blackburn countered all three goals for his first hat trick of the year. Jose McNeil assisted on all three goals, with Brian Phillips and Steve Landon also assisting.

The Novices will be finishing their schedule on January 24th, in Tweed, at 12 Noon.

ATOMS WIN LEAGUE

only 39 seconds left in the game for the winning goal in Madoc's 5-4 victory over Tweed. He was assisted by Marcie Deering and Brad Bateman.

Madoc held a 2-1 lead at the end of the first on two goals by Tom Burnside. He was assisted by Glen Meeks and Pat St. Germain.

It was a 4-1 lead at the end of two on the strength of goals by Pat St. Germain from Tom Burnside and Todd Matthews from Billy Harrison.

In an Atom Tournament in Frankford, they were not to be so fortunate, as they dropped an 11-2 decision to Picton and a close 2-1 decision to Campbellford.

In the Picton game, it was Tom Burnside from Pat St. Germain and Glenn Meeks from Tom Burnside.

Tom Burnside scored the only goal in the Campbellford game. This goal put Madoc into a 1-1 tie, which was unbroken until the 54 second mark of the third when Campbellford scored the winner.

SIXTEEN IN A ROW!

The Madoc IGA Pee Wees took their record to 16 games without a loss by virtue of their 12-3 win over Napanee in exhibition play.

Napanee held a one-goal lead at the end of the first, but Madoc bounced back to lead 4-3 at the end of the second. They added eight unanswered goals in the third.

The first three goals came within a 53 second span in the second from Joe Kehoe, Brad Phillips and Tim Bailey. Scott Tracey and Wesley Cromwell assisted Joe; Pat Graham assisted Brad, and Ian Ketcheson set up Tim. Later, it was Pat Graham from Brad Phillips and Pat Mahoney.

In the third it was Ian Richardson, Wesley Cromwell, and Brad Phillips with two each, and Tim Bailey and Pat Graham with singles. Adding assists were Troy Trotter, Brad Phillips, Joe Kehoe, Dave Hobson and Pat Graham.

Goals 9 - 10 - 11 were scored within 30 seconds.

The locals are now playing in playoff series against Colborne. Home games are Fridays at 7:30.

SHERRIN HAS FIRST

Scott Sherrin netted his first hat trick of the year in a losing cause as the Pee Wee 'B's' dropped a 10-5 decision to Trenton. Scott's goals were assisted by Jaimie McCann and Arnon Tough.

Other goal scorers were Chad Bateman from Angus McNeil, and Angus McNeil from Chad Bateman and Barry Whiteman.

'B's VICTORIOUS

The locals scored twice in the first with Robyn Plumbe from Dan Beals and Duane Rollins from Jeff Wiggins doing the scoring.

In the second, it was Dale Sager with a pair. He was assisted by Travis McLuckie and Dan Beals.

Canada's best long-term RRSP record.

We don't know any other RRSP-eligible investment that can beat this record.

Over the past 19 years, Industrial Growth Fund has achieved total growth of almost 2000% (with dividends reinvested). That means that $10,000 invested in 1967 is now worth more than $209,364.

For nearly two decades, that's a 17.4% average annual compound rate of return - a direct result of the conservative but growth-oriented money management strategy of Mackenzie Financial Corporation.

When your RRSP demands the best long-term performance, why settle for anything less?

The life of a battered woman is made up of a never-ending series of crisis times. The tension in a violent home usually follows a repeated cycle where the anger builds up slowly and finally explodes.

If you are a battered woman who has decided that you can no longer accept the uncertainty and the violence, the following is a guideline for action at a time of crisis.

If your partner assaults you, you should run outside and away from him. Scream as loudly as you can. If you cannot get away stand near a window or an doorway so that people outside can see that you are in trouble. Make any kind of noise that is possible to attract their attention. Call the police.

When there are children in the home it is a good idea to arrange an emergency escape plan. Tell them to use this plan if there is ever a fire or a crisis in the family. You might suggest they go to a friend's house, to a neighbour's home, or to some designated place in a park or a shopping mall where they should wait until you pick them up.

When the police arrive on the scene they may only enter the house if one of the occupants agrees to let them in.

Fighting Back

Co-operate and let them in. (Always try to work with the police. Tell them you have been beaten and that it has happened before. Show them where you were hit and what, if any, weapons were used. Also, tell them if there were any witnesses. Tell them that you want them to press charges and ask them to make a report. Ask them to take color pictures of your injuries. Write down their names and badge numbers. Ask them to help you leave.

When you leave remember to take with you your ID and OHIP information along with that of your children and any other important papers. Take money, keys, clothes and any toiletries and medicines you may require. If you have children, it is a good idea to bring their favorite toys or blankets along.

If you have been hurt by your partner, have the police take you to the hospital or to a doctor that you know and trust. Tell the hospital staff or the doctor exactly how you were hurt and ask them to make a report. This may be used as evidence in a later trial. Ask them to take pictures of your injuries and to sign them and record the dates on the back. There are shelters and safe homes in many Ontario communities where people who understand your situation will provide you with accommodations and a good listening ear. The police should know where the nearest facility is or else call the local crisis line. The staff at these places will help you through this time of crisis and you will discover that many of them have gone through the same process. While you might prefer to stay with friends or family, you should never stay with anybody who does not fully understand the problem. Often families encourage couples to "kiss and make up" and this will only lead to more violence.

Once you are somewhat established you must set aside a moment to sit down and make careful notes of everything that has happened. Write down what everybody said and make a note of times and dates. If you were hurt, record all the details, including exactly what part of your body was injured, how he hurt you (with his fist or boot, etc.), how many times he hit you, and how severe the injuries were. These notes are very important because they will help you when you go to see your lawyer and you may use them to refresh your memory before you testify in court. Above all, remember to store them in a safe place.

It is also a good idea to keep any evidence of the assault if the police do not take it. Tell your lawyer or your Crown Attorney about anything that relates to the assault. This may include: witnesses, their addresses and phone numbers, torn or blood-stained clothing, any weapons, photographs and the name and address of the photographer, medical or hospital records, police reports and police names and badge numbers.

If you are an abused woman you do not have to wait until you are faced with a time of crisis in order to leave your abusive partner. You may leave at any time. Once you decide to take this step you must not be ashamed to talk about your situation. Professionals are people who are paid to help other people, that is their job. Tell a doctor, a nurse, a social worker, a minister, a policeman, a teacher. If any person ever acts like you are foolish to complain, go to someone else for a second opinion. Never give up - you have a legal right to live free of abuse.

evidence remains that only maintenance of the proper levels of the hormone estrogen has shown any effectiveness in curbing bone loss.

None of these considerations applies to children. There is evidence that proper dietary intake of calcium during childhood determines the peak bone mass in adulthood and the greater the peak bone mass the less the risk of developing osteoporosis.

The Results are In

The results are in for last year's Construction trip contest sponsored by Cembal Publications and downtown merchants. 10,334 entrants competed for the trip to Mexico that was part of the draw and was won by Dora Clark of Warkworth. Only 5,806 entries were from Campbellford. While entrants came from all over Ontario, it was surprising how many came from out of the province. Watch for all the totals in next week's paper.

Norwood Minor Hockey Review

On January 15, the J.J. Stewart Midgets were in action against Havelock.

The game started out with Havelock getting on the scoreboard first, only to have Norwood come back within two minutes to tie the score. They added three more to take a 4-1 lead into the second period.

In the second, Havelock outscored Norwood by a 2-1 point to enter the third trailing 3-3. Norwood scored the only third period goal with 2:16 remaining in the game to double the score 6-3.

The Bantam contest was yet another overpowering victory for the locals as they shut out the opposition 10-0. Toms again earned the shutout.

Brent Irwin led the squad with a hat trick, while Gord Harmon and Greg Snetsinger each had two. Singles went to Duane Gee, David Crowley and David Stewart.

The Norwood Midgets had to play a little harder to return home with a 5-1 victory over the hosts. This game was fairly close but Norwood took most of the action to their opposition in Coughlin.

Norwood's third game was against a team from Millbrook. There was no score in the first period, but all eight goals were scored in the second and Norwood came up with their second shutout of the tournament behind goaltender Jamie Lytle.

In the overtime period, the locals scored at the four minute mark to eliminate Stirling 3-2.

Scoring were: Mike Barr, Terry Cation and Ronnie Watts. This win sent them into the Consolation against Pickering.

The Consolation final was quite a game. These two teams played their hearts and souls out for three regular periods and three overtime periods to have Pickering win at the 7:00 minute mark to win the game 1-0.

A real super game, guys. Keep it up! Each player received medallions.

The Begg Fuel Novices were on the road in Havelock for league action on January 18. In tal investments that won't cash flow, trying to get bigger before getting better.

The good news is that most farmers know that farming is a whole new "cash flow" ball game these days. That's why there's so much more interest in keeping better farm records. And using these records for making business decisions.

There was thrilling Midget action in Norwood last week where Warkworth and Norwood skated to a 4-4 tie.

Scoring were: Chris Townsend, Kenny Grant, Kenny Hamblin, Mike Payne, Ronnie Buchanan and David Stewart.

The Lakeway Atoms hosted Hastings and the Lynch's Texaco Pee Wees hosted Warkworth on January 16th.

In the Atom contest, Norwood came out on top 5-2. Kirk Snetsinger led the scoring with a hat trick, while singles went to Robbie Rogers and Ryan Buck.

The Pee Wee game was a little tighter as Norwood managed to tie the game in the last three minutes.

Jason Rodgers and Mike Kerber were the goal scorers for the locals.

The Home Hardware Bantams were also on the road in Warkworth for league action, while the J.J. Stewart Midgets were guests in the village of Warsaw.

In the second game, Norwood faced off with a league rival - Douro. This contest was very entertaining as Douro came out skating and ready for action. But Norwood was not to be outdone, and shut out the opposition by a 1-0 score. Goaltender, Jamie Lytle earned the shutout.

Jamie Jones scored from Pat McGriskin and Richard

MVP in this game. This win advanced them to the Championship finals.

The Norwood Midgets faced Deseronto in the Championship game. This game began with the locals scoring just 18 seconds into the game. They added their second and third less than four minutes later. Norwood also added two more in the second period to take a 5-0 lead.

CAVERLY, Gerald - In memory of our Dad, who passed away January 22, 1984. If tears could build a stairway, And memories build a lane, We'd walk all the way to heaven. To bring you home again. We think of you in silence. We often speak your name. But all we have are memories. And your picture in a frame. It broke our hearts to lose you, But you did not go alone; *For part of us went with you. The day God called you home. Deeply loved. Your Children.

CAVERLY - In loving memory of a dear brother and uncle, Gerald Caverly, who passed away January 22, 1984. A heart of gold stopped beating. Two working hands are at rest. God broke our hearts to prove to us. He only takes the best. Always remembered by Rae, Lois and family.

CHAPMAN, Barbara Elaine - In loving memory of our dear mom, who was taken January 23, 1984. Though her smile is gone forever, And her hand we cannot touch, Still we have so many memories. Of the mom we loved so much. Her memory is our keepsake. With which we'll never part. God has her in his keeping. We have her in our heart. Sadly missed, never to be forgotten. Daryl and Gail.

RENT REVIEW UPDATE FROM THE MINISTRY OF HOUSING

Important message to tenants and landlords of rental units first occupied after 1975.

The Residential Rent Regulation Act, 1986, extends the protection of rent review to cover all tenants in private rental units in Ontario. This includes buildings, mobile homes and mobile home sites first occupied as rental units after 1975.

In the past, tenants living in units which first came on the market after 1975 - post-'75 units - were not protected by rent review. Under the new legislation, tenants living in post-'75 units are now protected by rent review along with all other tenants in private rental units in Ontario.

As well, the provisions extending rent review to cover post-'75 units are retroactive to August 1, 1985.

This means that the four per cent Guideline which was in place from August 1, 1985, to December 31, 1986, applied to post-'75 units during this period.

Thus, landlords who charged tenants of post-'75 units more than the four per cent Guideline during this period must now justify those rent increases or refund to tenants the difference between four per cent and the higher amount charged.

Tenants in post-'75 units: do not make immediate deductions from your rent.

For the present, tenants living in post-'75 units should pay the amount requested in the notice by their landlord until the matter is resolved through rent review.

Under no circumstances should tenants make immediate deductions from their rent cheques because an illegal deduction could lead to eviction by the Courts.

Tenants in post-'75 units: obtaining a rent rebate.

- If the landlord of a post-'75 unit has not made an application to rent review by March 2, 1987, the tenant is entitled to a rebate of rents paid above the 4 per cent Guideline between August 1, 1985, and December 31, 1986.
- If the landlord does not voluntarily pay the tenant the rebate owing, the tenant is advised to file an application with the local Rent Review Office for an order requiring the landlord to pay the rebate.
- If the tenant is certain of the amount of the rebate, the tenant may deduct the amount from a rent cheque.

Requirements for landlords of post-'75 units.

- Landlords who have charged tenants more than the 4 per cent Guideline from August 1, 1985, to December 31, 1986, have until March 2, 1987, to apply to rent review to justify these rent increases.
- To apply, a landlord must file an application form and supporting information with the local Rent Review Office, showing that the rent increases were justified.
- Landlords who apply to justify these rent increases must give a copy of their application to all of their tenants within 10 days of applying. Tenants are entitled to examine all the materials filed and to make submissions to the local Rent Review Office.
- Landlords who do not apply to rent review on or before March 2, 1987, must rebate excess rents charged to tenants between August 1, 1985, and December 31, 1986.

Landlords of post-'75 units who have already served notice of a rent increase above the 1987 Guideline:

Under the new legislation, the Rent Review Guideline for the year 1987 is 5.2 per cent.

Some landlords of post-'75 units have already served tenants with notice of a rent increase effective on or after January 1, 1987, which exceeds the 5.2 per cent Guideline.

These landlords also have until March 2, 1987, to apply to rent review for approval of a 1987 rent increase above the 5.2 per cent Guideline.

If the landlord applies to rent review, tenants will receive a copy of the application and be given a full opportunity to participate in the rent review process.

If the landlord does not apply to rent review and the time period for doing so expires, the landlord must rebate the difference between 5.2 per cent and the higher amount charged during 1987.

Bell Canada Truck Road-eo

Bruce Gordon of Madoc is Bell Canada's top 3/4 ton truck driver between here and Cornwall.

This is the first time that Bruce, a sixteen year employee of Bell Canada, had entered such a competition. He won the Madoc - Belleville competition and as a result went on to the section competition between Madoc, Belleville and Bancroft.

There were approximately 100 drivers in this competition, (25 in the 3/4 ton class) and Bruce again was the top man in his class.

This meant a trip to Kingston to compete against drivers from Cornwall, Brockville and Kingston. Driving skills over a pre-arranged course were judged as drivers went through a serpentine course, garage parking competition, straight line driving and maneuvering in a diminishing clearance situation.

In addition to the road test there was a written exam of fifty questions that had to be completed and Bruce came through with top honours.

Bell Canada maintain a high profile safety program at all times and safety and courtesy on the road is an important part of their campaign.

Al Lew, Installation and Repair Foreman at the Madoc depot said, "All of the ten repair and installation technicians and the six man construction team have an excellent driving record compiled over the years."

Bruce Gordon receives congratulations from Al Lew.

County Council appeals to Peterson

After learning that Attorney General Ian Scott had turned down an invitation to meet with the County Council Committee on the Madoc Court situation, the County Council endorsed a resolution that will ask Premier Peterson for a full investigation into the circumstances surrounding the cut back in Court services for this area.

The County Council also backs the complaint by Madoc Village that the situation has been dealt with unfairly.

Commenting on the Toronto decision to reduce court services here, Reeve Tom Delane said in a broadcast interview, "This whole thing has been a farce since day one. They've lied to us from the beginning. They used 'facilities' as an excuse. We're grown people who can accept positive approaches and the truth."

In a comment to the Madoc Review, the reeve said, "I'm at the stage where I have done everything I can. I've talked to people at every opportunity regarding this situation and now it's up to the people. If people want it, (full court facilities) it's up to them to tell me, and I'll keep fighting."

Former Warden Glen

Franks raised the question as to whether this type of decision making will have a similar bearing on other services at present in Centre Hastings.

In his travels as Warden, Franks said that he had met a lot of people with strong feelings that Madoc Village Council had represented the feelings of the community.

He went on, "Aside from the inconvenience of travelling to Belleville only to find that cases had been put over to another date, there had been insufficient time for the people involved to properly consider what needed to be done. As I understand it, there were no plans laid before the people concerned so that the situation could be properly looked at."

He feels that there is sufficient public support to have the court remain in Madoc.

He said, "This could be the tip of the ice-berg leading to more centralization and withdrawal of services drawn up over the years. I am surprised that the request for a meeting by the County Council Committee was turned down. County Council does not operate on political party lines and is the representative body for all of the people in Hastings County."

The County Council would like to see the court services maintained in Madoc."

By going directly to Premier Peterson, County Council has given notice that this situation will not simply fade away. It seems that there might be a principle involved here. It's one thing for a ministry to ignore a reeve, or a village council but it's another thing to ignore a county council representing some 135,000 people.

Repeating Reeve Delane's comments, "If people want the court to remain, let them tell me and I'll keep on fighting for it."

Animal Cruelty Charges

The first shot has been fired in a campaign that could give farmers another headache.

Vicki Miller, President of the Toronto Humane Society and a leader of Ark Two, an animal rights group, gave notice in a speech to the Simcoe County Federation of Agriculture that animal rights groups are planning to take aim on farmers. Not a specific group of farmers, but farmers in general.

Her speech contained "horror" tales of twenty year old chickens suffering cruelties in laying barns, weaner piglets kept in total darkness for twenty weeks, milking machines causing mastitis and, for good measure, asserting that plant life has rights.

Her audience reacted with laughter and amazement at her allegations but her plans are for real and should not be dismissed lightly.

Ken Yarrow, President of the Hastings County Federation of Agriculture feels that Vicki Miller's campaign could have a negative impact on the farming community. "People may get some wrong impression regarding agricultural practices for livestock handling. Some of the issues raised by these animal rights groups contain only half truths," said Yarrow.

Brigid Pyke, President of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture is also concerned enough over some of the statements made by Miller to accuse her of "intellectual dishonesty in using out-dated, misleading and false information."

A campaign by farm groups is being launched to outline the agricultural viewpoint and to counter the claims of the animal rights groups with factual information. "The next meeting of the Hastings F.A. will be devoted to this issue," said president Yarrow. "We'll be meeting at the Ivanhoe Hall on February the 18th, at 8 pm., and hope to be in a position to outline our plans."

In the long run, the animal rights groups may not win approval or legislation for their ideals, but it could be a long battle, with farmers facing harassment.

As president of the Toronto

Humane Society, Vicki Miller could be quite influential in attracting a lot of non-farming people to her cause and with a large support base could bring pressure to bear on politicians.

This is an issue that farmers should take seriously. Vicki Miller does and she'll spread her message at every opportunity. In fact she's scheduled to be the guest speaker at a dinner sponsored by the Toronto Chapter of Canadian Agricultural Marketing Association on February 3rd. The dinner is to be held in the same building as the New Canadian International Farm Equipment Show in Toronto, on the first day of the show. Her topic - Animal Welfare - an issue to be taken seriously.

Drama Club

Members of the Drama Club - 1st back row, Greg Sergeant, April Wood, Joshua Bailey, Renae McGowan, and Arden Braden. Front row - Amy Hagerman, Mandy Newland, Sol Sinclair, Jonathon Valieres. Two other members of the group were not available at the time this picture was taken. They are Amanda Barry and Carol Anne Whiteman.

Over the Christmas period, the Drama Club of Madoc Township Public School presented a play called "The Story Teller" to several different audiences.

In fact the put on five performances in one day and had a ball travelling to the C.F.B. School, and other schools in Trenton and Belleville.

However, they seemed to get a bigger kick out of taping their play through the courtesy of Doug Pigden and his Cable T.V. facility.

The finished tape runs for about 23 minutes, but it took four hours to complete and the consensus of the players in the club was that it easier to do the play for T.V. than present it live on stage.

Two things impressed them in the studio. One, they did not have to face an audience and thus didn't suffer from nervous butterflies in the tummy, and two, if they made a mistake.

Fund Raising Lunches

Fund raising for the Trinity United Church is an ongoing thing, and one of the latest fund-raisers is the weekly lunch served on Thursdays at the Church.

Old fashioned prices are the order of the day for a nutritious lunch.

Drop in for lunch and help swell the restoration fund. It'll be good for the church, good for your stomach and who knows, good for the soul.

At each regular meeting of the Women's Institute there is a special topic as well as the regular business portion of the meeting. At Cooper last week, the theme was Arts and Craft. There was a wide variety of items on show for this "Show and tell" and a great deal of sharing of ideas and thoughts.

Information taken from an upcoming Statistics Canada survey in this area will be included with other information across Canada for the Consumer Price Index.

The family expenditure survey will be carried out locally by Marion Moriarity, a Stats Canada researcher based in Madoc.

The survey is taken at frequent intervals to examine the buying and spending patterns of Canadians.

About 10 Madoc area and 10 Stirling area houses will be involved in the random sample survey in an extensive study that will take close to four hours to complete, said Charles LeFriche, regional manager of programs for Stats Canada in Ottawa.

Mrs. Moriarity interviews more than 60 households each month in the area for the labour force survey, he said.

The family expenditure survey in 1982 showed Canadians spent 15.3 percent of their dollars on food, 17.5 on shelter, 3.6 on furnishings and equipment, 6.1 on clothing, 12.1 on transportation, 5.9 on recreation, reading and education, 25.2 on personal taxes, security and gifts and 14.3 percent on other items.

Stats Canada personnel carry identification credentials. Further information can be obtained by calling Philippe Levesque at 1-800-461-1662.

Learning Disabled

Post Secondary Education

The Quinte Association for Children and Adults with Learning Disabilities are holding a public meeting on January 29th at 7:30 p.m. in the Education Centre, Belleville.

Four panelists, Faith Bottoms - Teaching Master at Loyalist College, Hugh Minielli - Resource teacher, Moira Secondary School, John Chapman - Special Education Co-ordinator, Board of Education, and John Blainey - Special Education Head, Belleville Collegiate Institute, will be discussing ways and means of directing/assisting grade 9 students to become effective in choosing the Post Secondary course which best suits their needs.

Quinte Arts Council

The Quinte Arts Council recently nominated three new members to its board of directors. Joining the board as treasurer is Geoffrey Green, a recently retired accountant. Other new board members are Eugene Lang and Bob McIntosh. Quinte Arts Council board members serve a three year term.

Gypsy Moth

Reeve Glen Franks, a member of the nine county Gypsy Moth Committee, said last week that the 1987 Gypsy Moth Program has been established and a cost sharing agreement with the Ministry of Natural Resources has been worked out.

Applications for the spraying of private property will soon be available in local municipal offices and he urges that these applications be made as soon as possible.

He said, "The committee has negotiated a good contract with the Ministry and there should be sufficient money available to look after local needs."

The '86 spray program was quite successful according to reeve Franks. The spraying measures combined with wet weather seems to have made quite an impact on the pest. "There are a few hot spots yet in Elzevir, Rawdon and Madoc Townships but it looks as though the new hot spots will appear in Northumberland and Peterborough Counties," said Franks.

The co-ordinator of the spray programme was laid off for the winter months but there should be a co-ordinator in place sometime in February.

Moira River Conservation reports that a Gypsy Moth spraying program will be carried out in 1987 and that Forest Agreement property spraying will be handled by the Ministry. It also reports that a Gypsy Moth egg mass survey has been completed at Sheffield and Sidney and it was found that spraying had been successful with only approximately 10% new growth of the moth. It also pointed out that, one egg mass was discovered at O'Hara.

JAPANESE NEW YEAR

The Kigami Biraki celebrations represents the start of the Japanese New Year. In Canada, it has been ceremony among Canadian martial artists since the inception of Judo and Karate into this country. The Kigami Biraki is also considered to be a traditional time for Black Belt promotional tests - a fine way to begin a year. Recently, in Toronto, 14 Brown Belts were promoted to Black Belt 1st Degree (Sho-Dan) as part of a massive all-day testing conducted by the instructors of the Kai Shin Schools, the Karate association to which our Dojo belongs. Senior instructors then took aside three very fine Black Belts from Hastings County and ran them through a sharp one hour test. Bob Leonard, Karate pioneer in the Stirling-Frankford area, was promoted to 2nd Degree Black Belt (Ni-Dan) as were Don Legault and Robert Chamberlain of Tren-

Madoc Women's Institute

By Ada J. Adams

"Toot your own Horn" was the somewhat unusual topic of the P.R.O.'S program for the January meeting of the Madoc W.I. held in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church vestry last Friday afternoon. Members were urged to take pride in their own achievements and were reminded that each person is "one of a kind". There never has been anyone else like her. She is unique. At one stage in the program, each member was required to write a resume of her abilities, qualifications and achievements, as if she were applying for a job. Some of the things listed were organizing a big dinner, hosting the monthly meeting, being a leader for an adult training school, working with people, teaching, demonstrating a new skill, e.g. bread-making. Members should "toot their own horn" sometimes. Reference was made to Helen Keller who wrote, "Use your eyes as if to-morrow you would be stricken blind, hear the music of voices, the song of the bird, as if you would be stricken deaf to-morrow, etc...."

The program was closed with a humorous reading, "A Night-gown for the Queen", telling of a little French-Canadian boy who often boasted of his prowess, but when asked to do a difficult thing, said that he could not do that. Yet, after thinking hard about it, he decided he could. In doing so, he is not only made his mother happy, but he felt proud of his achievement.

At this meeting a special collection - the price of one loaf of bread - was taken for the work of the ACWW. This was in addition to the usual monthly donation of "Pennies for Friendship". President Sharon announced that a special Atomic Energy meeting will be held on Feb. 17 in the Anglican Hall at which two able speakers from Atomic Energy Canada will expand this topic. This is a most important matter.

Remember the Nuclear Waste Disposal project for Mt.

Morjah a few years ago?) All concerned citizens are urged to attend.

The Short Course on Short Order Meals will be given on Wednesday Jan. 28 at 7:00 p.m. in Trinity Church Hall. Lou Phillips and Edie Guimond are the "teachers". This course is open to the whole community. All women, men too, will be welcome.

The W.I., as a group, are greatly concerned over the lack of parking space on Durham and St. Lawrence streets. Often, one has to drive as far as the Funeral Home before finding an opening to park, even when an elderly passenger may want to go to Stickwood's, or wherever. This lack of parking space seems to be caused by shopowners and workers parking their own cars all day along these two busy streets. One wonders why they could not - and should not - park their cars in one of the parking lots, which may not be so convenient, but which would leave space or temporary shoppers.

Hostess Jean Scott thanked Anne and Prudence McIntosh for their help in setting up tables and preparing for the meeting.

Sharon Phillips added her thanks, including the speaker, Ada Adams, and the assistant hostesses, Wilma Patrick and Hazel Beatty.

On Thursday evening, Jan. 15th, the District Deputy Grand Matron of District 12, Mrs. Isobel Linn of Campbellford, paid her official visit to Madoc Chapter, O.E.S. Mrs. Edith Aylesworth, Worthy Matron of Madoc Chapter and Mr. Roy Brickman, Worthy Patron, presided. All aspects of the work were exemplified.

At the close of the meeting, the Associate Matron of Madoc Chapter, Mrs. Margaret Smith, presented Mrs. Linn with a monetary gift to be donated to her special project, the welfare of children at Sir James Whitney School.

Madoc Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star. This year the Worthy Grand Matron and Worthy Grand Patron of the Grand Chapter of Ontario have chosen as their special project, financial support for "The Association for Children and Adults with Learning Disabilities", (A.C.L.D.).

More than 40 chapters of parents have been formed across Ontario. It is most important to have an early diagnosis. Early Recognition is The Key! The Association defines its role as futhering diagnostic, social, educational, recreational legal and employment opportunities, as well as providing guidance and emotional support to those who need it.

O.E.S. hopes that with their financial support, more parents who are now alone, scared confused and frustrated may become aware of the Association and find support.

Fighting Back

by Melissa Taylor

It is possible for a battered woman to leave her partner at any time. She does not have to wait until a crisis occurs and she is victimized again by her abusive mate.

Married or not, as one half of a couple, she and her children have certain rights in Ontario under the Family Law Act and the Children's Law Reform Act. As always, the application of laws to any particular situation depends to a great extent on the facts of that situation and makes it impossible to state conclusively what rights emerge from every situation. Nevertheless, there are some avenues available through the Family Law Act that cater most effectively to the plight of a battered woman.

In some circumstances, it is possible for the battered woman to remain in the house or apartment where she has lived with her abusive partner. This is known as Exclusive Possession of the Matrimonial Home under section 24 of the Family Law Act. In order to keep him at a distance elsewhere she may seek a restraining order under 46 of the Family Law Act. A restraining order may also be obtained to prevent or limit his access to the children or to provide for limited and supervised access to them.

To obtain an order for exclusive possession there is one key requirement that must be fulfilled and that is that partners be legally married. If it is a common-law relationship, there may still be a chance to obtain possession of the home but it is a more difficult process and it is under another section of the act. In this situation, it may have to be argued that the possession to the home will suffice when the abusing partner might not otherwise be able to make support payments to his victim.

Before a judge will agree to an order for exclusive possession when the couple is married he/she will consider certain factors that are outlined in the Act and they include: the best interests of the children (their particular preferences and the effects that a move might have on them), existing support orders, the financial position of each spouse, and other written agreements between the spouses, the availability of suitable and affordable accommodation elsewhere, and any violence committed against the members of the household

It is possible in certain circumstances for a woman to obtain an order for exclusive possession or a restraining order without first notifying her battering partner. It is rare that courts make any decision involving the limitation of a person's rights without allowing that person to be present in order to present his or her side of the story.

In some situations, however, there are exceptions. For example, when a battering victim for some reason must continue to live in the couple's home in a potentially dangerous situation her lawyer may apply to obtain the order without notice. This means that the court makes its decision without giving him any warning. Once the order is granted the police will serve him with the notice requiring him to leave the home.

The enforcement of similar orders under the old law was often a major problem and in many cases it was virtually impossible.

Under the present Family Law Act, however, a police officer may arrest without warrant any person who contravenes a restraining order or an order for exclusive possession. Once a woman obtains an order she would be wise to keep a certified copy of the original with her at all times as if it were a piece of identification. She should call the police immediately if her partner violates the order. For a first offence he may be fined up to $1,000 or sent to jail for a maximum of three months. Subsequent offences may yield a fine of up to $10,000 or a jail term of up to two years.

62,000 Summer Jobs

Toronto - Skills Development Minister Gregory Sorbara announced today that $45.1 million will be spent to create 62,000 jobs for young people this summer. Funding has been increased from $43.8 million last year to create 1,000 more jobs and to cover the increase in the minimum wage. The announcement was made by the Minister in a speech to the Board of Directors of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce.

In his speech, Mr. Sorbara said that the outlook for the summer job market is generally healthy, however, summer jobs are scarcer in Northern Ontario than in other parts of the province.

The Minister stated, "this Government is continuing its commitment to young people because we know that summer employment adds immeasurably to the on-the-job training and work experience of our youth. It broadens their horizons, providing them with that very important and hard to get first job experience," he added.

In announcing that special attention would be paid to Northern Ontario the Minister said that 23 per cent of the Experience jobs would be located in the north. He also said northern businesses that applied for funding through OSEP would be given special consideration.

The Programs are: Start-Up which provides interest-free loans to students for summer businesses. The Minister said he expects about 1,250 businesses to be started, creating 1,500 jobs.

The Ontario Summer Employment Program pays employers $1.25 an hour toward the salaries of young people hired for new summer jobs. About 53,000 jobs will be created this summer through OSEP.

Experience '87 will provide 7,500 career-related jobs in 26 Ontario government ministries and associated organizations.

The Minister also announced a 50 per cent increase in the amount of loans to students to start up summer businesses. The upper limit of the loans will go to $3,000 from $2,000 enabling students "to broaden the range of businesses they establish."

Young people who want further information can call the Ontario Youth Hotline, 1-800-387-0777, at no charge.

Safety in Sports and Fitness

John Eakins, Ontario Minister of Tourism and Recreation has announced a $1.4 million program designed to reduce injuries in sports and fitness.

A number of initiatives will be carried out over the next fifteen months and will be supported with amendments to the Tourism and Recreation Act.

This program is in response to a public concern about the increasing number of injuries resulting from participation in amateur sports and fitness programs.

Part of the new program will specifically address the safety issue in amateur hockey. The Ministry will work with the Hockey Development Centre for Ontario to create a single governing body for the sport aimed at providing uniformity in policy, coaching and instructional programs at a provincial level.

Other steps involving amateur hockey include improvements in the recruitment, training and supervision of hockey referees, and providing arenas with breakaway hockey nets on a cost shared basis.

Efforts will also be directed to revitalizing a hockey training program emphasizing the prevention of injury and ensuring proper care through skilled team trainers and therapists.

A standard education and training program will be developed for trainers, coaches and therapists in all amateur sports, supported by specific cost-shared grants for training clinics.

"Participation in amateur sports and fitness by Ontarians is increasing rapidly," said Eakins. "My aim is to make sure that the enthusiasm continues with safety and injury prevention a top priority."

Only matter of time until gypsy moth in Seymour Township, Northumberland co-ordinator says

by Ross Lees

Northumberland County gypsy moth spray program co-ordinator Jim Tedford figures it's only a matter of time until the gypsy moth infestation hits Seymour Township.

"It's not too bad yet around Seymour Township, but I figure it's just a matter of time," Tedford told the 14 interested people who attended the information meeting at the arena last Thursday night. Tedford's aim in holding the meeting in Campbellford was to find the spots that needed spraying and to work with the landowners involved to ensure they were sprayed.

The gypsy moth infestation in Northumberland County last year covered 1,400 hectares (3,500 acres), but Tedford expects that to increase about five times this year even though he admits it is very hard to predict what will happen. He said there is a potential for the infestation to increase to 14,000 hectares in 1987.

In the Tweed District of the Ministry of Natural Resources, good news was received last year. For the first time since the gypsy moth was discovered in the area in 1981, a large decline in infested forest was noted. In every previous year, this voracious pest had at least doubled or tripled the amount of forest it had eaten the previous year.

Tedford feels the spray program can take much of the credit for the decline in the Tweed District, but he was quick to add that there were other factors involved. "The results of the spray program last year speak for themselves, but it was also the worst weather possible for the gypsy moth last year and there has been a build-up of natural parasites."

Tedford said the eggs of the gypsy moth are ready to hatch six to eight weeks after they are laid. "They're ready to hatch now. They're just waiting for the temperatures to warm up."

During his presentation,

Tedford said the young caterpillars feed at night during their initial stages after the hatch and seek cover during the day. But as they advance in their in-star development, they change that cycle completely. They feed during the day and seek cover at night. In the advanced stages, they eat 24 hours a day, with each larva capable of eating 90 square centimetres of leaf each day.

Preferred diet is oak, birch and poplar

The gypsy moth prefers to eat oak, birch and poplar trees but the pest has been observed eating 500 species of plants. It will move into corn fields and other agricultural crops if no other food is available. But a MNR publication called Gypsy Moth: A New Forest Pest in Ontario, gives the best idea of just how voracious this pest is.

"Laboratory feeding studies have shown they (gypsy moth) can thrive on all of Canada's commercial tree species, including maple, spruce, pine, hemlock, and fir," the publication says. "Even roofing shingles, surveyor's tape and foam coffee cups, have fallen prey to the voracious appetite of the gypsy moth," it states.

When you consider that each female can produce up to 1,200 eggs, it is not hard to see why this forest pest is considered to be the most threatening of the big three caterpillars: gypsy moth, spruce budworm and jack pine budworm.

Cost of spraying to landowners is $8 per acre

This year, the cost to each landowner who qualifies for the spray program will be $8 per acre. The government is kicking in $24 per acre.

Again Bacillus thuringiensis (Bt) will be sprayed because it only kills caterpillars and does not accumulate in the environment. According to a fact sheet supplied by the MNR, Bt biodegrades in three to seven days.

"Midget '86" participates in international tourney

Putting on a show of Blues-style hockey, Stirling's "Midget '86" team started the New Year off right by claiming the "B" Championship at an international tournament in Thun, Switzerland.

After a night of celebrating, the "Midget '86" team awoke to a cold, drizzly day and prepared to square off against two Swiss and one Finnish team in an international tournament, in Thun, Switzerland.

Greeted by another open air rink, the Midgets took to the ice, determined to collect the first victory of their European tour. Playing a good, solid game of hockey, the Blue were not disappointed as they beat out a Swiss team from Bern, 5-3.

Scoring for the Blues were Peter Hagerman (21) with a hat trick (including one blasted from his own blue line that he threaded through the Swiss goalie's pads), Jeremy Lockwood (8) and Brad Abbott (6). Assists went to Jeff Thompson (12) and Jeremy Lockwood (8).

On January 2nd, the Blues again woke to another overcast day but drove to the arena in high spirits.

Scoring for Stirling were Clint Tracey (9) and Peter Hagerman (21), with two goals each, Shawn Allenby (3), Ron Jackson (26), David Brownson (77) and Cory Cotnam (10).

Assists went to Kevin Saunders (16), Shawn Allenby (3), Jeff Thompson (12), Mike Kiley (2), Bill Montgomery (60), David Bird (23), Derek Potts (24) and Ron Jackson (26).

With two victories in the tournament, the only thing standing between the Blues and top honours was the Finnish team from Ilves Tampere and in the end that was all that was heeded as the Finns overpowered Stirling 7-2.

Scoring for the Blues were Clint Tracey (9) and David Brownson (77), with an assist going to Shawn Allenby (3). Receiving the MVP award for the game was Blues goalie Mark Carr (01).

Up early January 3rd, "Midget '86" bid farewell to Thun and, travelling along the shore of Lake Thun, headed for Interlaken.

Just before reaching Interlaken, the tour turned south, cutting up into the mist-shrouded mountains. Climbing up a steep, winding road in a gathering snow storm, "Midget '86" headed for Grindelwald, a small village famed for its skiing, nestled in a valley high in the Jungfrau mountains.

Once again the players had the opportunity to hit the slopes, this time in the midst of a heavy snowfall, while the rest of the group returned to Interlaken for the opportunity to spend their francs in the local stores.

Following the afternoon of leisure, everyone boarded the bus and settled down for the long trip back to Zurich. Following a shorter, yet more scenic route, the Stirling tour cut back along the north shore of the scenic Lake Brienz. Reaching the lakehead, the Canadians were treated to spectacular scenery as they passed through the famous Brunig Pass. Back on the autobahn, many of the tour members took the opportunity to grab a nap, faced with the prospect of a two and a half hour trip to Geroldswil (a suburb of Zurich).

January 4th dawned crisp and cold, as "Midget '86" (minus several players who were sick with the flu bug) loaded on to the bus for the 20 kilometre trip to Dubendorf and a matchup with the local team.

Arriving at a beautiful indoor arena, the Blues received a bit of a surprise to find that they were to play a team that would be the equivalent of a Junior team, here in Canada. Despite being faced by players that were 18-20 years of age, the Stirling players gave it their all.

put on a show, despite being handed a 11-4 defeat.

Scoring for the Blues were Mike Kiley (22) with two, David Brownson (77), and Derek Potts (24). Assists went to Cory Cotnam (10), Bill Montgomery (60) and David Bird (23).

After a short visit to the Bahnhofstrasse (the main business district in downtown Zurich), "Midget '86" returned to their hotel for a well-earned rest.

(Next week - the Blues leave Switzerland and head east to Liechtenstein, Austria and back to West Germany.)

Heart and Stroke Foundation

by Maureen Dixon

February will once again be the most important month of the year for the many faithful supporters of the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Ontario. While the Heart Flag is flying as a reminder to everyone, capable and dedicated canvassers will be braving the snow, collecting money for a cause in which they firmly believe.

Cardiovascular (heart) and cerebrovascular (stroke) disease remains Canada's number one killer, even though the death rates have fallen noticeably in recent years. This is described as the worst epidemic ever to strike Canadians, accounting for more deaths, more days spent in hospital, and more visits to the doctor, than any other single health problem.

For the past 30 years, the Ontario Heart Foundation has funded research into heart disease, and the results of this research have benefitted many. Initially, little was known about strokes, but as the results of research unfolded, the relationship between heart disease and stroke has become more evident. In recent years, advances in diagnostic ability, the study of risk factors, as well as promising new forms of therapy, have been made in the area of stroke. Realizing the similarities of cause between heart disease and stroke, and the need for more vital research, the Foundation in November 1983 changed its name to "The Heart and Stroke Foundation of Ontario."

Hence, a very real challenge became even greater! Everyone who might be affected by heart disease or stroke should know about prevention and treatment of vascular diseases. Of course, that's everyone in our society! While the media plays an immense role in education through communication, it is readily recognized that face to face contact with another person offers a very valuable communication tool. Awareness, education, and a caring, open attitude can be fostered and increased when one person's commitment touches another. And that's what volunteers bring to the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Ontario.

In Campbellford and Seymour, 130 canvassers will

Norwood Oakland Greens Awesome

BY JIM PARCELS

Norwood may have the finest Bantam program in the area and you have to look no further than the successes of the Bantam A and B teams.

The Oakland Green Bantam 'B's' are currently in second place in the Tri-County league two points back of Ennismore as of January 22. The 'B's' came up with two soundly decisive back-to-back wins last week hammering Manvers 12-0 on January 21 and taking a 10-1 win over Omeme in front of the home crowd January 22.

The 'B's' travelled to Manvers on Wednesday and brought home another shutout victory behind the offensive power of Murray MacPhail and Cal Clarke who each netted four goals. MacPhail added three assists and Clarke had two. Also registering goals were Brian Sinclair, who had two; Andrew Rork and Roger Arsenault had singles. Sinclair also had three assists while Scott Garden helped on two of the Norwood goals. Joe Smith tended the Norwood net.

A simple answer to your complex RRSP decision.

You're looking for the best RRSP and you're not finding it easily. But here's a simple decision. Pick the RRSP with the top long-term performance record: Industrial Growth Fund. Over the past 19 years, Industrial Growth Fund has achieved total growth of almost 2000% (with dividends reinvested). We don't know of any other RRSP-eligible investment that can make that claim. In fact, for nearly two decades, it has chalked up an average annual compound rate of return of 17.4%. Consistently. Thanks to the conservative but growth-oriented money management strategy of Mackenzie Financial Corporation. You can't go wrong selecting the best. And, in our view, that's Industrial Growth Fund. Deadline for spray program February 28th is suggested. Where a vegetable garden or wild strawberries have been sprayed, wash items before eating.

Application forms for the spray program are available at the Seymour Township office. The forms would then be sent to the head office of the spray program c/o Ganaraska Region Conservation Authority, P.O. Box 328, Port Hope, Ont. L1A 3W4. Information on the procedure for applying for spraying in Northumberland County can be received at the Seymour Township office or by writing to the address above.

If you find evidence of the gypsy moth in your woodlot, you are advised to contact Jim Tedford if you are unsure of the necessity for spraying. Tedford will come and check your lot and advise you if you should spray. If in doubt, apply for spraying and your lot will be checked before the spraying takes place. If it is found that spraying is not necessary, your money will be refunded.

The gypsy moth seems to survive best on high and dry ridges where hardwoods are available.

The deadline for applying for the spray program is February 28th. The minimum area to be sprayed is five acres, but five one-acre parcels of land together could be sprayed Spraying takes place in the early morning and early evening when winds are down. In Northumberland County, helicopters and mobile units based in Trenton, will be used to spray.
